THE CASE

On a kitchen whiteboard, under a magnet shaped like a lemon, someone has written a single line in blue marker:

“If the day after tomorrow is Friday, what day was yesterday?”

No calendar is allowed. No phones. Just count it out, day by day, on your fingers if you must. The room always splits: half the kitchen shouts one day, half shouts another — and both halves are sure.

THE QUESTION

If the day after tomorrow is Friday, what day was yesterday?

THE QUESTION + THREE HINTS

Open them one at a time. Stop the moment you have it — the last hint nearly gives it away.

THE QUESTION

If the day after tomorrow is Friday, what day was yesterday?

HINT 1

Anchor on Friday and walk backwards, one day at a time. Do not jump.

HINT 2

“The day after tomorrow” is exactly two steps forward from today. Undo both steps.

HINT 3

When you land on today, you are not finished — the question asks for one more step back.

YOUR MOVE

If the day after tomorrow is Friday, what day was yesterday?

Decide your answer now — say it out loud or drop it in the comments — before you turn this page. No going back.

THE REVEAL

THE ANSWER

Yesterday was Tuesday.

Count it out. The day after tomorrow is Friday. So tomorrow is Thursday. So today is Wednesday.

Yesterday — the day before Wednesday — is Tuesday.

Four steps, no tricks left standing: Friday → Thursday → Wednesday → Tuesday.

WHY IT WORKS

Every word in the question is a small step: 'day after tomorrow' (+2), 'yesterday' (−1). The riddle is pure direction-keeping, and it breaks people because they try to hold all the steps at once and one of them flips.

The fix is embarrassingly simple: name each day out loud as you pass it. Spoken steps do not flip.

THE TRAP + COMMENT ENGINEERING

THE TRAP, NAMED
Speed. The brain compresses 'the day after tomorrow' into a blur and lands a day off — confidently.

This riddle is built to split the comments into two camps. Seed both, then let them argue:

CAMP A SAYS
Team WEDNESDAY: 'Day after tomorrow is Friday, so today is Wednesday... and yesterday is just the day before the question — Wednesday feels right.'

CAMP B SAYS
Team TUESDAY: 'Walk all the way back. Friday, Thursday, Wednesday — yesterday is Tuesday. Count the steps.'

PIN THIS COMMENT
Your day — TUESDAY or WEDNESDAY? Lock it in. No edits after the reveal.

CHARACTER & STYLE LOCK

[VAULT-2D] STYLE LOCK — flat 2D storybook animation, deep-navy night palette with one lime accent, clean shapes, soft moonlight, no text inside the picture except where a prompt says so, vertical 9:16. Characters never change design between clips: generate the reference stills first, then build every clip from them.

LOCK
The whiteboard sentence is ALWAYS drawn in editing in blue marker style — a generated sentence garbles, and this riddle lives or dies on its exact words.

LOCK
The kitchen never changes: same island, same board position, same lemon magnet. The argument crowd is split into two fixed groups — left side and right side — and never mixes.

LOCK
The day names on the stepping stones are edit-drawn. The stones themselves carry no letters in any generated frame.

Never redesign a locked character mid-video. If a generation drifts, regenerate the still — never accept a near-match.

REFERENCE IMAGE PROMPTS

Generate these stills first, in this order, and check each one before any video clip is made.

REF 1
REF-BOARD: flat 2D storybook illustration, vertical 9:16, a kitchen whiteboard with a lemon-shaped magnet in the corner, the board's centre left completely blank, warm kitchen light, no people, no text.

REF 2
REF-KITCHEN: flat 2D storybook illustration, vertical 9:16, a warm family kitchen with an island in the middle and the whiteboard on the wall, morning light, no people, no text.

REF 3
REF-STONES: flat 2D illustration, vertical 9:16: four plain round stepping stones in a gentle arc on a dark floor, seen from a low three-quarter view, all stones blank, soft spotlight, no text.

REF 4
REF-HAND: flat 2D illustration, close view of one hand counting on its fingers against a plain warm background, four fingers raised, no text.

VIDEO PROMPT 1 OF 6

PICTURE — what Flow builds
A kitchen whiteboard under a lemon-shaped magnet. A hand with a blue marker finishes writing — the sentence area is left blank in the picture (the words are drawn in editing). Camera holds on the board.

NARRATION — generated inside this clip
"One sentence on a whiteboard splits every room in half. Here it is — exactly as written."

Sound: A marker squeaking on the board.

One tiny action only. If the clip drifts, cut to the verified still and use a slow zoom instead.

VIDEO PROMPT 2 OF 6

PICTURE — what Flow builds
The whiteboard fills the frame, the blank sentence space centred. A slow, deliberate push-in. Nothing else moves.

NARRATION — generated inside this clip
"If the day after tomorrow is Friday… what day was yesterday?"

Sound: Kitchen quiet, a clock ticking.

One tiny action only. If the clip drifts, cut to the verified still and use a slow zoom instead.

VIDEO PROMPT 3 OF 6

PICTURE — what Flow builds
Wide kitchen shot: two groups of flat-design family members on either side of the island, arms crossed, mid-argument, pointing at the board and at each other.

NARRATION — generated inside this clip
"No calendar. No phone. Just walk it, day by day. Half of you are already wrong — and sure of it."

Sound: Muffled arguing, cutlery drawer sounds.

One tiny action only. If the clip drifts, cut to the verified still and use a slow zoom instead.

VIDEO PROMPT 4 OF 6

PICTURE — what Flow builds
Freeze on the whiteboard, perfectly still. The pause — the frame holds longer than feels comfortable.

NARRATION — generated inside this clip
"Say your day out loud. Lock it in the comments. No changing it after the reveal."

Sound: Silence, just the clock.

One tiny action only. If the clip drifts, cut to the verified still and use a slow zoom instead.

VIDEO PROMPT 5 OF 6

PICTURE — what Flow builds
A path of four plain stepping stones appears across the kitchen floor, one lighting up at a time as the count walks backwards. Day names are added in editing — the stones stay blank.

NARRATION — generated inside this clip
"Walk backwards with me. The day after tomorrow is Friday — so tomorrow is Thursday. Today is Wednesday. And yesterday..."

Sound: Four soft footsteps, one per stone.

One tiny action only. If the clip drifts, cut to the verified still and use a slow zoom instead.

VIDEO PROMPT 6 OF 6

PICTURE — what Flow builds
The fourth stone glows lime. The kitchen crowd reacts — half cheering, half with hands on their heads. Morning light.

NARRATION — generated inside this clip
"Tuesday. Four small steps — did you take all four? Follow for a new riddle every day."

Sound: A cheer and a groan together.

One tiny action only. If the clip drifts, cut to the verified still and use a slow zoom instead.

AGENT MASTER PROMPT

Paste this whole prompt to the agent (Google Antigravity) with this book. It runs the video build end to end.

MASTER PROMPT

You are producing a 60-second vertical riddle video, 'THE FRIDAY QUESTION'. Use the story, hints and reveal in this book as the script — do not invent a different answer. Step 1: generate the reference stills from the Reference Image Prompts page, in order, and check each against the Character & Style Lock. Step 2: build the six clips in Google Flow, one per Video Prompt page, using Frames-to-Video from the checked stills, one tiny action per clip, narration generated inside each clip using the locked voice. Step 3: assemble the clips in order 1-6, keep the question on screen until the reveal clip, captions in the series style, no dead air. Step 4: run the Edit Checklist page and fix every failure before export. Deliver a 1080x1920 MP4.

VOICE LOCK — one warm American male narrator, 30-35, calm and confident, slightly amused at the question beats, dead serious at the reveal. Same voice, same pace, every clip. The narration is generated INSIDE each Flow clip; listen-check every clip and regenerate only failures.

NARRATION SCRIPT

THE THUMBNAIL

THE IDEA

The whiteboard filling the frame, one word visible — FRIDAY — and a giant question mark. The rest of the sentence is the video's job.

IMAGE PROMPT

Flat 2D storybook illustration, vertical 9:16: a kitchen whiteboard filling most of the frame, completely blank except one lemon-shaped magnet in the corner, a blue marker resting on the tray, warm kitchen light at the edges, no text in the image.

Rules: the question, never the answer. Three words or fewer of big text, drawn in editing — generated lettering garbles. Check it at profile-picture size before posting.

EDIT CHECKLIST

Nothing posts until every line passes.

CHECK
Frame-check every beat: characters match the lock, no drift, no warped hands or faces.

CHECK
Every number and word on screen is drawn in editing and read back — generated text is never trusted.

CHECK
The question stays on screen until the reveal beat; the answer never appears early — not in a caption, not in a frame.

CHECK
Listen to the full cut: one voice throughout, no dead air, no clip where the narration went missing.

CHECK
The reveal lands in the final seconds; the last frame carries the follow prompt.

CHECK
Thumbnail checked small; title and caption lead with the question, never the answer.

AI — WHO DOES WHAT

Every step of this book's video, and whose job it is.

THE AGENT (Antigravity)
Reads this book, plans the shots, writes the generation queue, assembles the edit, runs the checklist.

GOOGLE FLOW
Generates the reference stills, then the six clips with the narration inside each clip.

THE EDITOR (you, or the agent)
Draws all on-screen text and numbers, sets captions, checks every frame and every second of audio.

THE CHANNEL
Posts with the title, caption and pinned comment from the Posting Copy page — question first, answer never.

Part 2 idea: Chain it harder: 'If three days ago was Sunday, what day is the day after tomorrow?' — five steps, two directions, triple the argument.
