AI — WHO DOES WHAT
every step, and whose job it is

THE CASE

A cook looks into his egg box and makes a statement that sounds like a confession to a crime against counting:

“I had six eggs. I broke two of them, I fried two of them, and I ate two of them — yet there are still four eggs in the box.”

He is not lying. No eggs were bought, borrowed, hidden or replaced. The box really holds four eggs, and everything he said happened, exactly as he said it.

THE QUESTION

How can four eggs still be in the box?

THE QUESTION + THREE HINTS

Open them one at a time. Stop the moment you have it — the last hint nearly gives it away.

THE QUESTION

How can four eggs still be in the box?

HINT 1

Read the cook's sentence the way a lawyer would — word by word, taking nothing for granted.

HINT 2

Must “two of them” be a fresh pair of eggs every time it appears?

HINT 3

Eggs go through stages. One egg can be broken, then fried, then eaten — in that order, in one breakfast.

YOUR MOVE

How can four eggs still be in the box?

Decide your answer now — say it out loud or drop it in the comments — before you turn this page. No going back.

THE REVEAL

THE ANSWER

The two eggs he broke are the same two he fried and ate. Four were never touched.

Breaking, frying and eating are three events in one egg's morning — not three separate pairs of eggs. The cook broke two eggs, fried those two, and ate those same two.

Six eggs, minus the two that went through all three stages, leaves four sitting untouched in the box.

WHY IT WORKS

The sentence uses 'two of them' three times, and the ear automatically deals out six eggs — two per verb. But pronouns point back; they do not restock.

It is the same family of trick as the fathers and sons: the words count events, and the listener counts objects. Keep the two ledgers apart and the mystery evaporates.

THE TRAP + COMMENT ENGINEERING

THE TRAP, NAMED
Fast reading. The sentence is built to be skimmed, and a skim deals six eggs onto the counter.

This riddle is built to split the comments into two camps. Seed both, then let them argue:

CAMP A SAYS
Team SIX EGGS USED: 'Broke two, fried two, ate two — that's six eggs gone. The box must be empty. He's lying.'

CAMP B SAYS
Team SAME TWO: 'It's the same two eggs three times. Broken, then fried, then eaten. Four never moved.'

PIN THIS COMMENT
Before the reveal: how many eggs are really left — 0 or 4? Defend your count.

CHARACTER & STYLE LOCK

[VAULT-2D] STYLE LOCK — flat 2D storybook animation, deep-navy night palette with one lime accent, clean shapes, soft moonlight, no text inside the picture except where a prompt says so, vertical 9:16. Characters never change design between clips: generate the reference stills first, then build every clip from them.

LOCK
The egg box always holds the story's truth: six eggs at the start, four at the end, two spaces visibly empty. The count on screen must always match the narration — draw recounts in editing if a frame disagrees.

LOCK
The cook is one fixed design: apron, sleeves rolled, spatula as his prop. He never lies and never winks — his deadpan honesty is the riddle's camouflage.

LOCK
Every count in this video (six, two, two, two, four) is spoken and, where shown, drawn in editing. Generated numerals are never trusted.

Never redesign a locked character mid-video. If a generation drifts, regenerate the still — never accept a near-match.

REFERENCE IMAGE PROMPTS

Generate these stills first, in this order, and check each one before any video clip is made.

REF 1
REF-BOX: flat 2D storybook illustration, vertical 9:16, top-down view of an open egg box with exactly six eggs in a row on a warm kitchen counter, morning light, no hands, no text.

REF 2
REF-COOK: the cook alone on a plain warm-cream background, flat 2D storybook style, apron, spatula in one hand, honest open expression, full body, no text.

REF 3
REF-PAN: flat 2D storybook illustration, vertical 9:16, a frying pan on a stove with two eggs sizzling in it, steam curling, warm palette, no text.

REF 4
REF-COUNTER: flat 2D storybook illustration, vertical 9:16, a cosy kitchen counter scene — egg box, bowl, pan and an empty plate in a line, morning light, no people, no text.

VIDEO PROMPT 1 OF 6

PICTURE — what Flow builds
A cosy morning kitchen. A cook in an apron opens an egg box on the counter: six eggs in a row. He nods at them, satisfied. Slow push-in on the box.

NARRATION — generated inside this clip
"A cook had six eggs. He broke two, he fried two, and he ate two. And there are still four eggs in the box."

Sound: Kitchen morning sounds, a pan warming.

One tiny action only. If the clip drifts, cut to the verified still and use a slow zoom instead.

VIDEO PROMPT 2 OF 6

PICTURE — what Flow builds
Close on the egg box, six eggs gleaming. The cook's hand hovers over them and taps the air three times, counting something the frame does not show.

NARRATION — generated inside this clip
"Read it again, slowly. Six eggs. Broke two. Fried two. Ate two. Four left. He swears every word is true."

Sound: A soft tap, tap, tap over the box.

One tiny action only. If the clip drifts, cut to the verified still and use a slow zoom instead.

VIDEO PROMPT 3 OF 6

PICTURE — what Flow builds
The box sits alone on the counter in still light. Nothing is added, nothing taken away — the frame insists on it.

NARRATION — generated inside this clip
"No eggs were bought. None were borrowed, hidden, or replaced. The box really holds four."

Sound: Quiet — a clock, a kettle far away.

One tiny action only. If the clip drifts, cut to the verified still and use a slow zoom instead.

VIDEO PROMPT 4 OF 6

PICTURE — what Flow builds
Freeze on the egg box, all six eggs in place, perfectly still. The pause — lower third of the frame left open.

NARRATION — generated inside this clip
"So where is the trick hiding? Lock your answer in the comments before the reveal."

Sound: Silence over the kitchen hum.

One tiny action only. If the clip drifts, cut to the verified still and use a slow zoom instead.

VIDEO PROMPT 5 OF 6

PICTURE — what Flow builds
One egg, followed through its morning in three quick vignettes: cracked into a bowl, sizzling in a pan, then the empty plate. The same egg's journey, shown honestly.

NARRATION — generated inside this clip
"Watch one egg's whole morning. It gets broken... then it gets fried... then it gets eaten. The same egg — three times."

Sound: A crack, a sizzle, cutlery on a plate.

One tiny action only. If the clip drifts, cut to the verified still and use a slow zoom instead.

VIDEO PROMPT 6 OF 6

PICTURE — what Flow builds
The box again: four eggs sitting untouched, two spaces empty. The cook shrugs at camera, spatula in hand. Morning light.

NARRATION — generated inside this clip
"Two eggs did all three jobs. Four were never touched. Follow for a new riddle every day."

Sound: A satisfied sigh, pan set down.

One tiny action only. If the clip drifts, cut to the verified still and use a slow zoom instead.

AGENT MASTER PROMPT

Paste this whole prompt to the agent (Google Antigravity) with this book. It runs the video build end to end.

MASTER PROMPT

You are producing a 60-second vertical riddle video, 'SIX EGGS'. Use the story, hints and reveal in this book as the script — do not invent a different answer. Step 1: generate the reference stills from the Reference Image Prompts page, in order, and check each against the Character & Style Lock. Step 2: build the six clips in Google Flow, one per Video Prompt page, using Frames-to-Video from the checked stills, one tiny action per clip, narration generated inside each clip using the locked voice. Step 3: assemble the clips in order 1-6, keep the question on screen until the reveal clip, captions in the series style, no dead air. Step 4: run the Edit Checklist page and fix every failure before export. Deliver a 1080x1920 MP4.

VOICE LOCK — one warm American male narrator, 30-35, calm and confident, slightly amused at the question beats, dead serious at the reveal. Same voice, same pace, every clip. The narration is generated INSIDE each Flow clip; listen-check every clip and regenerate only failures.

NARRATION SCRIPT

THE THUMBNAIL

THE IDEA

The open egg box from above: four eggs, two empty spaces ringed in lime. Edit-drawn text: 'BROKE 2 · FRIED 2 · ATE 2'.

IMAGE PROMPT

Flat 2D storybook illustration, vertical 9:16, top-down view of an open egg box holding four eggs with two empty slots, warm kitchen counter, morning light, the top third of the frame left empty for title text, no text in the image.

Rules: the question, never the answer. Three words or fewer of big text, drawn in editing — generated lettering garbles. Check it at profile-picture size before posting.

EDIT CHECKLIST

Nothing posts until every line passes.

CHECK
Frame-check every beat: characters match the lock, no drift, no warped hands or faces.

CHECK
Every number and word on screen is drawn in editing and read back — generated text is never trusted.

CHECK
The question stays on screen until the reveal beat; the answer never appears early — not in a caption, not in a frame.

CHECK
Listen to the full cut: one voice throughout, no dead air, no clip where the narration went missing.

CHECK
The reveal lands in the final seconds; the last frame carries the follow prompt.

CHECK
Thumbnail checked small; title and caption lead with the question, never the answer.

AI — WHO DOES WHAT

THE AGENT (Antigravity)
Reads this book, plans the shots, writes the generation queue, assembles the edit, runs the checklist.

GOOGLE FLOW
Generates the reference stills, then the six clips with the narration inside each clip.

THE EDITOR (you, or the agent)
Draws all on-screen text and numbers, sets captions, checks every frame and every second of audio.

THE CHANNEL
Posts with the title, caption and pinned comment from the Posting Copy page — question first, answer never.

Part 2 idea: The breakfast sequel: 'I bought a dozen eggs, broke half, fried a third, ate two — how many are left?' Let the comments fight over which eggs the fractions mean.

ABOUT THIS BOOK

One riddle, taken seriously: a verified answer, a locked visual style, and the complete route from page to posted video — script, narration, image prompts, video prompts, thumbnail and posting copy, all in one pack.

OWNERSHIP
This book — its text, structure and design — is owned by OTT TITANS. Reading or downloading it grants you the right to enjoy it and to produce your own version of the riddle video on your own channels. It never transfers ownership of the book.

The riddle itself is a classic that has travelled for years. This pack — its words, structure and production system — is the original work.

CASE CLOSED

The two eggs he broke are the same two he fried and ate. Four were never touched.

A new riddle lands every day. Solve the next one before the reveal.
