AI — WHO DOES WHAT
every step, and whose job it is

THE CASE

On a game show you face three closed doors. Behind one is a car. Behind each of the other two is a goat. You pick a door — say Door 1.

The host, who knows exactly where the car is, opens a different door — say Door 3 — and always reveals a goat. He can always do this, whatever you picked.

Then comes the offer: stay with Door 1, or switch to the remaining closed door, Door 2. The audience is screaming both ways.

THE QUESTION

Should you switch, stay — or does it make no difference?

THE QUESTION + THREE HINTS

Open them one at a time. Stop the moment you have it — the last hint nearly gives it away.

THE QUESTION

Should you switch, stay — or does it make no difference?

HINT 1

Don't ask about the doors now. Ask about your first pick, at the moment you made it: what was the chance it hid the car?

HINT 2

The host's reveal is not random — he never opens the car. His choice carries information about the door he left closed.

HINT 3

Count the worlds: in how many of the three equally likely worlds does switching win?

YOUR MOVE

Should you switch, stay – or does it make no difference?

Decide your answer now — say it out loud or drop it in the comments — before you turn this page. No going back.

THE REVEAL

THE ANSWER

Switch. Switching wins the car two times out of three.

Your first pick hid the car with probability 1 in 3, and a goat with probability 2 in 3. The host's reveal changes nothing about your door — but it concentrates everything onto his.

Whenever your first pick was a goat — two of the three worlds — the host is forced to open the other goat's door, and the car sits behind the door he leaves for the switch. So switching wins in exactly those two worlds, and loses only in the one world where you picked the car first. Stay: 1/3. Switch: 2/3.

WHY IT WORKS

The host's knowledge is the engine. A random door opening could have exposed the car and restarted the game; a knowing host filters the outcomes, and the filter transfers your first pick's losing chances onto the switch door.

The hundred-doors version settles all doubt: pick 1 of 100 doors, the host opens 98 goats, and the switch offers you the 99-in-100 you originally missed.

THE TRAP + COMMENT ENGINEERING

THE TRAP, NAMED
'Two doors left, so it's fifty-fifty.' The doors are not symmetric: yours was chosen blind, the other survived a knowing host's inspection. Equal doors, unequal histories.

This riddle is built to split the comments into two camps. Seed both, then let them argue:

CAMP A SAYS
Team STAY: 'Two doors, fifty-fifty. Switching is superstition — my first instinct picked that door for a reason.'

CAMP B SAYS
Team SWITCH: 'Your pick was 1-in-3 right. The host's knowledge loads the other door with the missing 2-in-3. Switch.'

PIN THIS COMMENT
STAY or SWITCH — one word, locked in BEFORE the reveal. The comments will be counted.

CHARACTER & STYLE LOCK

[VAULT-2D] STYLE LOCK — flat 2D storybook animation, deep-navy night palette with one lime accent, clean shapes, soft moonlight, no text inside the picture except where a prompt says so, vertical 9:16. Characters never change design between clips: generate the reference stills first, then build every clip from them.

LOCK
Door numbers are drawn in editing on blank door panels — the generated doors carry no numerals. The contestant's pick is always the left door.

LOCK
The host's design never changes (bright suit, microphone), and he never opens the contestant's door or a car. His goat reveal is always the third door in the main sequence.

LOCK
The goat is calm and comic, never frightened; the car is always the same red model in every panel and the final reveal.

Never redesign a locked character mid-video. If a generation drifts, regenerate the still — never accept a near-match.

REFERENCE IMAGE PROMPTS

Generate these stills first, in this order, and check each one before any video clip is made.

REF 1
REF-STAGE: flat 2D storybook illustration, vertical 9:16, a game-show stage with three tall closed doors in a row under spotlights, deep blue and gold palette, no people, no numbers or text.

REF 2
REF-HOST: the game-show host alone on a plain deep-blue background, flat 2D storybook style, bright suit, microphone in hand, knowing smile, full body, no text.

REF 3
REF-GOAT: a goat alone on a plain deep-blue background, flat 2D storybook style, calm expression, small bell on its collar, full body, no text.

REF 4
REF-CAR: flat 2D storybook illustration, vertical 9:16, a shiny red car gleaming under a single spotlight on a dark stage, confetti in the air, no text.

VIDEO PROMPT 1 OF 6

PICTURE — what Flow builds
A glossy game-show stage: three tall doors in a row under spotlights, a contestant pointing at the first door, a smiling host at a podium. Slow push-in.

NARRATION — generated inside this clip
"Three doors. Behind one, a car. Behind the other two, goats. You pick Door One."

Sound: Studio applause, a bright game-show sting.

One tiny action only. If the clip drifts, cut to the verified still and use a slow zoom instead.

VIDEO PROMPT 2 OF 6

PICTURE — what Flow builds
The host crosses to the third door and pulls it open with a flourish: a goat stands blinking in the light. The audience gasps.

NARRATION — generated inside this clip
"The host knows where the car is. He opens Door Three — always a goat. He can always do that."

Sound: A door creaking, a goat bleating.

One tiny action only. If the clip drifts, cut to the verified still and use a slow zoom instead.

VIDEO PROMPT 3 OF 6

PICTURE — what Flow builds
Two doors remain lit — the contestant's and one other — while the opened door dims. The contestant looks from one to the other, frozen.

NARRATION — generated inside this clip
"Now the offer: stay with your door… or switch to Door Two? The audience is screaming both ways."

Sound: The audience holding its breath.

One tiny action only. If the clip drifts, cut to the verified still and use a slow zoom instead.

VIDEO PROMPT 4 OF 6

PICTURE — what Flow builds
Freeze on the two closed doors, perfectly still, spotlights humming. Leave the lower third open for the pause.

NARRATION — generated inside this clip
"What do you do? Lock it in the comments: stay, or switch?"

Sound: Silence under a spotlight hum.

One tiny action only. If the clip drifts, cut to the verified still and use a slow zoom instead.

VIDEO PROMPT 5 OF 6

PICTURE — what Flow builds
A clean three-worlds visual: three tidy panels show the car behind door one, door two, door three in turn, with the contestant's pick marked the same in each (all labels edit-drawn).

NARRATION — generated inside this clip
"Your first pick was right one time in three — and wrong two times in three. The host's reveal changes nothing about your door."

Sound: Three soft panel tones.

One tiny action only. If the clip drifts, cut to the verified still and use a slow zoom instead.

VIDEO PROMPT 6 OF 6

PICTURE — what Flow builds
The contestant switches, pulls the remaining door open — and the car gleams inside. Confetti, but the goat from door three wanders into frame, unbothered.

NARRATION — generated inside this clip
"But whenever you first picked a goat, he was forced to leave the car in the switch door. Switch — and win twice as often. Follow for daily riddles."

Sound: A triumphant sting, one final bleat.

One tiny action only. If the clip drifts, cut to the verified still and use a slow zoom instead.

AGENT MASTER PROMPT

Paste this whole prompt to the agent (Google Antigravity) with this book. It runs the video build end to end.

MASTER PROMPT

You are producing a 60-second vertical riddle video, 'THE CAR AND THE TWO GOATS'. Use the story, hints and reveal in this book as the script — do not invent a different answer. Step 1: generate the reference stills from the Reference Image Prompts page, in order, and check each against the Character & Style Lock. Step 2: build the six clips in Google Flow, one per Video Prompt page, using Frames-to-Video from the checked stills, one tiny action per clip, narration generated inside each clip using the locked voice. Step 3: assemble the clips in order 1-6, keep the question on screen until the reveal clip, captions in the series style, no dead air. Step 4: run the Edit Checklist page and fix every failure before export. Deliver a 1080x1920 MP4.

VOICE LOCK — one warm American male narrator, 30-35, calm and confident, slightly amused at the question beats, dead serious at the reveal. Same voice, same pace, every clip. The narration is generated INSIDE each Flow clip; listen-check every clip and regenerate only failures.

NARRATION SCRIPT

Six lines, about ten seconds each — sixty seconds in total. Record or generate them exactly as written.

THE THUMBNAIL

THE IDEA

Two lit doors, a goat peeking from a third, the host gesturing between them. Edit-drawn text: 'STAY OR SWITCH?'

IMAGE PROMPT

Flat 2D storybook illustration, vertical 9:16: a game-show stage with three tall doors, the right door open showing a goat, the other two closed under spotlights, a smiling host gesturing between them, deep blue and gold palette, the top third left empty for title text, no text in the image.

Rules: the question, never the answer. Three words or fewer of big text, drawn in editing — generated lettering garbles. Check it at profile-picture size before posting.

EDIT CHECKLIST

Nothing posts until every line passes.

CHECK
Frame-check every beat: characters match the lock, no drift, no warped hands or faces.

CHECK
Every number and word on screen is drawn in editing and read back — generated text is never trusted.

CHECK
The question stays on screen until the reveal beat; the answer never appears early — not in a caption, not in a frame.

CHECK
Listen to the full cut: one voice throughout, no dead air, no clip where the narration went missing.

CHECK
The reveal lands in the final seconds; the last frame carries the follow prompt.

CHECK
Thumbnail checked small; title and caption lead with the question, never the answer.

AI — WHO DOES WHAT

Every step of this book's video, and whose job it is.

THE AGENT (Antigravity)
Reads this book, plans the shots, writes the generation queue, assembles the edit, runs the checklist.

GOOGLE FLOW
Generates the reference stills, then the six clips with the narration inside each clip.

THE EDITOR (you, or the agent)
Draws all on-screen text and numbers, sets captions, checks every frame and every second of audio.

THE CHANNEL
Posts with the title, caption and pinned comment from the Posting Copy page — question first, answer never.

Part 2 idea: Scale the stage: 100 doors, you pick one, the host opens 98 goats. Ask the comments again — the switch answer becomes unmistakable at scale.

ABOUT THIS BOOK

One riddle, taken seriously: a verified answer, a locked visual style, and the complete route from page to posted video — script, narration, image prompts, video prompts, thumbnail and posting copy, all in one pack.

OWNERSHIP
This book — its text, structure and design — is owned by OTT TITANS. Reading or downloading it grants you the right to enjoy it and to produce your own version of the riddle video on your own channels. It never transfers ownership of the book.

The riddle itself is a classic that has travelled for years. This pack — its words, structure and production system — is the original work.

CASE CLOSED

Switch. Switching wins the car two times out of three.

A new riddle lands every day. Solve the next one before the reveal.
