AI — WHO DOES WHAT
every step, and whose job it is

THE CASE

A man walks into a bar and asks the bartender for a glass of water. It is the simplest order in the world.

The bartender does not reach for a glass. He pulls out a gun and points it straight at the man.

The man pauses. Then he says, “Thank you,” and walks out of the bar — satisfied, calm, and without ever drinking a drop of water.

THE QUESTION

Why did the man thank the bartender — and why did he no longer want the water?

THE QUESTION + THREE HINTS

Open them one at a time. Stop the moment you have it — the last hint nearly gives it away.

THE QUESTION

Why did the man thank the bartender — and why did he no longer want the water?

HINT 1

The man never wanted a drink, exactly. The water was a treatment for something — a means, not an end.

HINT 2

What everyday affliction do people try to cure with a glass of water — and also with a sudden fright?

HINT 3

By the time the gun came out, the problem had already been solved by something the bartender gave him for free.

YOUR MOVE

Why did the man thank the bartender – and why did he no longer want the water?

Decide your answer now — say it out loud or drop it in the comments — before you turn this page. No going back.

THE REVEAL

THE ANSWER

The man had hiccups. He wanted the water to cure them; the fright cured them first, so he thanked the bartender and left.

The man walked in with a stubborn case of hiccups. His plan was the classic home remedy: a glass of water, drunk carefully, to reset his breathing.

The bartender read the situation in one glance — the little jolts in the man's speech gave him away — and chose the other classic remedy: a sudden, harmless fright. Gun out, hiccups gone. The man checked himself, found the hiccups cured, said thank you, and left a happy customer who never needed the water at all.

WHY IT WORKS

Every element fits once the hidden fact is supplied: the request (water as medicine, not thirst), the gun (a shock, never fired), the thank-you (the treatment worked), and the exit without water (the need vanished).

Lateral riddles are won by questioning the motive, not the objects. 'He asked for water' does not mean 'he was thirsty' — the story never said that. You assumed it.

THE TRAP + COMMENT ENGINEERING

THE TRAP, NAMED
Reading it as a robbery, a threat or a feud. The man's calm thank-you forbids all of those — the scene only makes sense as a cure delivered in a shocking costume.

This riddle is built to split the comments into two camps. Seed both, then let them argue:

CAMP A SAYS
Team ROBBERY GONE WRONG: 'The bartender mistook him for someone else, then realised — the thank-you is sarcasm and fear.'

CAMP B SAYS
Team HICCUPS: 'He came in for a cure, not a drink. Water was plan A; the fright was plan B — and plan B worked.'

PIN THIS COMMENT
Before the reveal: WHY did he say thank you? One line. Best theory gets pinned.

CHARACTER & STYLE LOCK

[VAULT-2D] STYLE LOCK — flat 2D storybook animation, deep-navy night palette with one lime accent, clean shapes, soft moonlight, no text inside the picture except where a prompt says so, vertical 9:16. Characters never change design between clips: generate the reference stills first, then build every clip from them.

LOCK
The gun is never fired and nobody is ever in danger on screen: it is raised once, calmly, as a prop of the cure. No violence, no struggle, no police.

LOCK
The customer's hiccup jolts are the story's clock: visible before the gun, absent after it. Check every clip — after the reveal beat, his shoulders never jolt again.

LOCK
The bar never changes: same counter, same shelves, warm evening light throughout. The empty glass stays empty on the counter.

Never redesign a locked character mid-video. If a generation drifts, regenerate the still — never accept a near-match.

REFERENCE IMAGE PROMPTS

Generate these stills first, in this order, and check each one before any video clip is made.

REF 1
REF-BAR: flat 2D storybook illustration, vertical 9:16, a warm wooden bar counter with bottles on shelves behind it, two stools in front, evening light, no people, no readable labels or text.

REF 2
REF-BARTENDER: the bartender alone on a plain warm background, flat 2D storybook style, waistcoat and rolled sleeves, calm knowing expression, one hand resting under the counter, full body, no text.

REF 3
REF-CUSTOMER: a man alone on a plain warm background, flat 2D storybook style, plain jacket, mid-hiccup posture with shoulders slightly raised, hopeful expression, full body, no text.

REF 4
REF-GUN: flat 2D storybook illustration, vertical 9:16, a revolver resting on a bar counter beside an empty drinking glass, warm light, still-life composition, no people, no text.

VIDEO PROMPT 1 OF 6

PICTURE — what Flow builds
A warm neighbourhood bar. A man steps up to the counter and mimes asking for a drink, his shoulders giving a small rhythmic jolt as he speaks. Slow push-in.

NARRATION — generated inside this clip
"A man walks into a bar and asks for a glass of water. The bartender pulls out a gun and points it at him."

Sound: Bar murmur, glasses clinking.

One tiny action only. If the clip drifts, cut to the verified still and use a slow zoom instead.

VIDEO PROMPT 2 OF 6

PICTURE — what Flow builds
The bartender calmly draws a revolver from under the counter and levels it at the man. The bar falls silent; bottles gleam.

NARRATION — generated inside this clip
"The man pauses… says 'Thank you'… and walks out. Happy. Without the water."

Sound: A drawer sliding, sudden silence.

One tiny action only. If the clip drifts, cut to the verified still and use a slow zoom instead.

VIDEO PROMPT 3 OF 6

PICTURE — what Flow builds
Close on the man's face: shock — then stillness — then a slow, delighted realisation as he checks himself and finds something has stopped.

NARRATION — generated inside this clip
"No shot. No robbery. No argument. And the customer leaves more satisfied than if he'd been served."

Sound: A gasp, then quiet.

One tiny action only. If the clip drifts, cut to the verified still and use a slow zoom instead.

VIDEO PROMPT 4 OF 6

PICTURE — what Flow builds
Freeze on the two men across the counter, gun still raised, perfectly still. Leave the lower third open for the pause.

NARRATION — generated inside this clip
"Why? What did the bartender actually give him? Lock your theory in the comments."

Sound: Silence, one clock ticking.

One tiny action only. If the clip drifts, cut to the verified still and use a slow zoom instead.

VIDEO PROMPT 5 OF 6

PICTURE — what Flow builds
A replay in miniature: the man's shoulders jolt twice with his order, the gun rises, and the jolts simply do not come again. His shoulders settle, easy and flat.

NARRATION — generated inside this clip
"The man didn't come in thirsty. He came in with hiccups — and water was just his planned cure."

Sound: Two small jolts — then none.

One tiny action only. If the clip drifts, cut to the verified still and use a slow zoom instead.

VIDEO PROMPT 6 OF 6

PICTURE — what Flow builds
The man tips an imaginary hat, smiling, and walks out into daylight. The bartender holsters the gun and polishes a glass, unbothered.

NARRATION — generated inside this clip
"The bartender chose the other cure: a fright. Hiccups gone, water unnecessary. Follow for a new riddle every day."

Sound: The door bell, street sounds, relief.

One tiny action only. If the clip drifts, cut to the verified still and use a slow zoom instead.

AGENT MASTER PROMPT

Paste this whole prompt to the agent (Google Antigravity) with this book. It runs the video build end to end.

MASTER PROMPT

You are producing a 60-second vertical riddle video, 'THE GLASS OF WATER AND THE GUN'. Use the story, hints and reveal in this book as the script — do not invent a different answer. Step 1: generate the reference stills from the Reference Image Prompts page, in order, and check each against the Character & Style Lock. Step 2: build the six clips in Google Flow, one per Video Prompt page, using Frames-to-Video from the checked stills, one tiny action per clip, narration generated inside each clip using the locked voice. Step 3: assemble the clips in order 1-6, keep the question on screen until the reveal clip, captions in the series style, no dead air. Step 4: run the Edit Checklist page and fix every failure before export. Deliver a 1080x1920 MP4.

VOICE LOCK — one warm American male narrator, 30-35, calm and confident, slightly amused at the question beats, dead serious at the reveal. Same voice, same pace, every clip. The narration is generated INSIDE each Flow clip; listen-check every clip and regenerate only failures.

NARRATION SCRIPT

THE THUMBNAIL

THE IDEA

The bartender levelling the gun across the counter, the customer eerily calm. Edit-drawn text: 'HE SAID THANK YOU'.

IMAGE PROMPT

Flat 2D storybook illustration, vertical 9:16: a bartender behind a warm wooden bar pointing a revolver toward a calm customer across the counter, an empty glass between them, dramatic warm light, the top third of the frame left empty for title text, no text in the image.

Rules: the question, never the answer. Three words or fewer of big text, drawn in editing — generated lettering garbles. Check it at profile-picture size before posting.

EDIT CHECKLIST

Nothing posts until every line passes.

CHECK
Frame-check every beat: characters match the lock, no drift, no warped hands or faces.

CHECK
Every number and word on screen is drawn in editing and read back — generated text is never trusted.

CHECK
The question stays on screen until the reveal beat; the answer never appears early — not in a caption, not in a frame.

CHECK
Listen to the full cut: one voice throughout, no dead air, no clip where the narration went missing.

CHECK
The reveal lands in the final seconds; the last frame carries the follow prompt.

CHECK
Thumbnail checked small; title and caption lead with the question, never the answer.

AI — WHO DOES WHAT

Posts with the title, caption and pinned comment from the Posting Copy page — question first, answer never.

Part 2 idea: The sister scene: a woman asks the same bartender for water, and he smiles and serves her instantly. Let the comments work out what was different about her request before Part 2 answers.

ABOUT THIS BOOK

One riddle, taken seriously: a verified answer, a locked visual style, and the complete route from page to posted video — script, narration, image prompts, video prompts, thumbnail and posting copy, all in one pack.

OWNERSHIP
This book — its text, structure and design — is owned by OTT TITANS. Reading or downloading it grants you the right to enjoy it and to produce your own version of the riddle video on your own channels. It never transfers ownership of the book.

The riddle itself is a classic that has travelled for years. This pack — its words, structure and production system — is the original work.

CASE CLOSED

The man had hiccups. He wanted the water to cure them; the fright cured them first, so he thanked the bartender and left.

A new riddle lands every day. Solve the next one before the reveal.
