TWO FATHERS, TWO SONS

WHY ARE THERE ONLY THREE PLATES?

14 CLIPS · 10 SECONDS EACH	11 REFERENCE PROMPTS	NARRATION INSIDE EVERY PROMPT

WHAT YOU ARE GETTING

The complete production pack for this riddle: full analysis with the logic checked end to end, the unique [CAFE-THREE-2D] character and style lock, every reference prompt in code order, Part 1 (riddle) and Part 2 (solution) scripts, standalone video prompts with the narration inside each one, the Agent master prompt, thumbnail, posting copy and the edit checklist — all in one file.

THE COMPLETE PRODUCTION PACK

Why Are There Only Three Plates? — Complete production pack: full riddle analysis, unique character + style lock, every reference prompt, Part 1 + Part 2 scripts, standalone 10-second video prompts with narration inside, Agent master prompt, thumbnail, posting copy, edit checklist

The riddle in one line: Two fathers and two sons walk into a café together. Each orders one plate at ₹10 a plate. The waiter brings exactly three plates and the bill is ₹30 — and nobody has been short-changed. How can two fathers and two sons be only three people?

The answer in one line (creator only — never in Part 1, never on the thumbnail): three men — an eldest man, his son, and that man's son. The middle man is both a father and a son, so two fathers + two sons = three people.

How this pack is organised: Section 1 analyses the riddle and checks its logic end to end. Section 4 locks the characters and the three rules that protect the riddle. Section 7 gives every reference prompt in code order. Sections 8 and 9 give a standalone video prompt for every clip, with the narration inside each one. Section 10 is the Agent master prompt. Build in section order and nothing can drift.

SECTION 1

THE RIDDLE, ANALYSED

01

The beat map

Beat	Time	What happens	What the viewer is thinking
1. The arrival	0:00–0:10	Two fathers and two sons walk into a small café together	"Four people, surely. Two plus two."
2. The order	0:10–0:20	Each man orders exactly one plate; every plate costs ₹10; no sharing, no extras	The loopholes close before they open
3. The waiter's double-take	0:20–0:30	The waiter re-reads his order — two fathers, two sons	"Even the waiter counted four."
4. Three plates	0:30–0:40	The waiter brings exactly three plates, one before each man	"Wait — that's only three."
5. Nobody complains	0:40–0:50	All three eat their own full meal; nobody is missing a plate	"So nobody went without…"
6. The bill	0:50–1:00	The bill is ₹30 — three plates at ₹10, charged exactly right	"And the money agrees. Three."
7. The recount	1:00–1:10	The narration counts again: 2 + 2 should be 4	The contradiction is stated out loud
8. The question	1:10–1:20	2 seconds of silence, then the question + comments hook	The viewer argues in the comments
9–14. The solution	Part 2	The titles are handed out one by one; the middle man holds two	"Of course. He is BOTH."

The answer — and why it works

There are exactly three people at the table:

- Harish, the eldest man — he is a father, because the middle man is his son. (Father 1)
- Rohan, the middle man — he is a son (of Harish) and a father (of the boy). He is counted twice — once in each list — because he holds two titles at the same time. (Son 1 + Father 2)
- Aarav, the boy — he is a son, because Rohan is his father. (Son 2)

Now count the two ways, and watch them disagree — that disagreement IS the riddle:

- Count the titles: fathers = {Harish, Rohan} = 2 · sons = {Rohan, Aarav} = 2 · total titles handed out = 4
- Count the people: {Harish, Rohan, Aarav} = 3 — Rohan appears in both lists, so the lists overlap by exactly one person, and 2 + 2 − 1 = 3.

The plates and the bill are just the same count wearing aprons: 3 people × 1 plate each = 3 plates; 3 plates × ₹10 = ₹30. Every number in the story is the people-count in disguise, which is why the story feels impossible and checks out perfectly at the same time.

The trap most people fall into

The brain hears "two fathers and two sons" and silently converts titles into bodies: two of these, plus two of those, must be four people standing in a row. The riddle's whole engine is that quiet conversion. "Father" and "son" are not kinds of people — they are relationships, and one person can stand in two relationships at once. Rohan is not half a father and half a son; he is fully both, all day, at every table. Part 1 must never hint at this: in Part 1 the four titles are always spoken as one breath — "two fathers and two sons" — and never attached to any individual man. The moment a title is pinned on a person, the riddle is over.

The logic, checked end to end (no gaps, no second hidden answer)

1. Each person ordered exactly one plate (stated in Beat 2, shown in F-02). So the number of plates equals the number of people — no other reading survives.

2. The waiter brought exactly three plates and set one before each man (Beat 4, F-04). So there are exactly three people. Not "about three": the plates are countable on screen.

3. Nobody shared and nobody went without (Beat 5, F-05). This kills the two classic escapes — "two of them shared a plate" and "one of them didn't eat". Both are closed on camera, not just in the words.

4. The bill is ₹30 at ₹10 a plate (Beat 6, F-06), and the narration says the charge is exactly right. This kills "the waiter made a mistake" and "there was a discount" — the money independently recounts the people: ₹30 ÷ ₹10 = 3.

5. Could the three people be arranged any other way? Try every alternative. (a) Two unrelated fathers each bringing one son = 4 people — contradicts the plates. (b) One father with two sons = only one father — contradicts the order. (c) Two sons of two different fathers where one father is absent = the absent man ordered no plate and the story says the fathers walked in together and each ordered. (d) A man counted as his own father or his own son = not a relationship that exists. The only arrangement of 3 people that yields exactly 2 fathers and exactly 2 sons is a chain of three generations, where the middle person is the overlap. The answer is unique.

6. Does the middle man really count as a "son" as an adult? Yes — "son" names the relationship to his father, not an age. Harish is alive, at the table, and is his father; Rohan is his son at 42 exactly as he was at 12. The script never calls Rohan "the boy" or Aarav "the son" as a label in Part 1 — labels wait for Part 2.

7. Arithmetic audit: titles 2 + 2 = 4; overlap 1; people 4 − 1 = 3; plates 3 × 1 = 3; bill 3 × ₹10 = ₹30. Every figure in the pack — script, overlays, thumbnail, posting copy — must match this audit. If any draft anywhere says ₹40, four plates, or "four men", it is wrong, whatever it claims to quote.

Camera — exactly how it moves

- Hard cuts between the four set-ups (exterior / table wide / counter / two-shots) — the café is a stage, and the cuts are the punctuation.
- Slow push-ins only — on the table in F-07 and F-09, as the thinking deepens. Never a zoom punch, never a shake: this riddle is quiet, and the camera must feel like a person leaning in.
- Counting frames are LOCKED. F-04 (plates landing), F-12 (the count) and the REF-TABLE plate do not move at all. A moving camera makes viewers distrust a count; a locked camera makes the count feel like evidence.
- The middle man drifts to the centre as Part 2 proceeds — F-10 favours the eldest pair, F-11 centres Rohan between the other two, F-13 is his close-up. The framing itself walks the viewer to the answer's address: the middle.

Sound — what the videos carry

- One narrator only — the locked voice of Section 6, inside every clip. Characters never speak and never move their lips; the waiter's puzzlement in F-03 is eyebrows and fingers only.
- Café ambience is the score's floor: low murmur, soft cutlery, a distant kitchen clatter, the door bell at arrivals and departures. It thins almost to nothing under F-07's recount — the quiet is the drumroll.
- Three plate sounds in F-04, one as each plate lands, timed to the narration's "one, two, three". If a generated take mistimes them, lay clean plate sounds in the edit — the count must be hearable with eyes closed.
- Scripted silence: the first 2 seconds of F-08 are completely silent. It is the only true silence in either video, and it is load-bearing — do not let music bleed under it.

On-screen text — the complete list

ALL text is drawn in the editor (Section 5, OV codes). Nothing is ever generated inside a frame — generators garble numbers, and this riddle lives or dies on its numbers.

Where	Text	When
F-01	"2 FATHERS + 2 SONS" (OV-TITLE)	As the narration names them
F-02	"1 PLATE = ₹10" (OV-PRICE)	On "every plate costs ten rupees"
F-04	Counting dots "1 · 2 · 3" (OV-PLATES)	One dot per plate as it lands
F-06	"3 × ₹10 = ₹30" on the bill close view (OV-BILL)	Drawn over the blank bill only in the edit
F-07 / F-08	"WHERE IS THE 4TH MAN?" (OV-QUESTION)	After the recount lands
F-10	"FATHER 1" over Harish, then "SON 1" over Rohan (OV-FATHER1 / OV-SON1)	Part 2 only, timed to the narration
F-11	"FATHER 2" over Rohan, "SON 2" over Aarav, then the double chip (OV-DOUBLE)	Part 2 only
F-12	The counting diagram: FATHERS 2 · SONS 2 · PEOPLE 3 (OV-FAMILY)	Built piece by piece in the upper third
F-14	"3 PEOPLE. 4 TITLES." (OV-END)	Final frame only

SECTION 2

THE STORY IN 30 SECONDS + THE JOB IN 10 SIMPLE STEPS

02

The story in 30 seconds: Four titles walk into a café — but only three men. Each orders his own plate at ₹10. The waiter, who counted four like everyone else, brings three plates, because there are only three people to bring them to, and the bill — ₹30 — backs him up. Part 1 ends on the impossible count. Part 2 hands out the titles one at a time until the viewer watches Rohan collect two of them, and the impossible count becomes the obvious one.

The job in 10 simple steps:

1. Read Section 1 once, so the count (titles 4, people 3, plates 3, ₹30) is in your head before anything is generated.
2. Generate the 11 reference images from Section 7, in code order, starting with REF-00. Check each one against its CHECK line before moving on.
3. Count REF-TABLE out loud (3 plates, 3 settings, 3 chairs). Do not skip this. A wrong plate here is copied everywhere.
4. Generate Part 1 (Section 8, F-01 to F-08) with the narration inside each prompt. Listen-check every clip against Section 6; regenerate only the failures.
5. Generate Part 2 (Section 9, F-09 to F-14) the same way. Check that Rohan — and only Rohan — collects two titles.
6. Join each part in order. Trim to the narration; never stretch a clip to fill silence. Keep F-08's opening 2 seconds of silence intact.
7. Add the editor overlays from Section 5 exactly where Section 13 says — every number, title chip and the bill total is drawn by you, never generated.
8. Burn in the series captions, low on the frame, never covering a face, a plate, or an overlay.

9. Run the full Section 13 checklist — plates count, bill check, title check, answer-hold check for Part 1, voice check.

10. Post Part 1 with Section 12's copy and pin the debate comment. Post Part 2 the next day. Never post both on the same day.

SECTION 3

EVERY SMALL NOTE (THE DETAILS VIEWERS CATCH ON A REWATCH)

03

- Three chairs, always. The centre table has exactly three chairs in every plate and clip. A fourth chair — even an empty one in the background of the master set — invites "the fourth man stepped away". PL-2 is checked for this, and so is every generated take.
- No reflections, no stray shadows. A fourth figure in the café's glass door or a fourth shadow on the pavement breaks the THREE BODIES rule as surely as a fourth actor. The exterior plate specifies an empty reflection on purpose.
- The waiter's notepad is blank, and so is the bill, and so is the menu board. Three blanks, one reason: generators cannot be trusted with words, and this story's words are numbers. The editor draws all three.
- The waiter never sits, never eats, never gets a plate. He is staff, in an apron, always standing. If a take seats him at the table, he becomes a fourth person and the count collapses — reject it.
- Each plate is the same meal. Identical plates stop the "one plate was a shared platter" reading and make the three plates countable at a glance.
- The boy is clearly a boy — about 12, in a hoodie, with a school-style backpack. If he is drawn as a small adult, the "son" title in Part 2 feels forced and the chain reads as three friends.
- The age steps must read instantly: silver hair and spectacles → grey at the temples and a beard → tousled hair and a backpack. Three generations are shown by age design in Part 1 but never named — naming them is Part 2's job, and the thumbnail's forbidden move.
- Rohan's seat is the middle seat in every shot. He sits between Harish and Aarav from F-02 to F-14, and the camera's attention migrates to him across Part 2. Viewers who rewatch Part 1 after Part 2 should be able to say "he was in the middle the whole time".
- Harish's wristwatch is on his LEFT wrist in every frame. A flipping watch is the kind of continuity slip comment sections screenshot. It is in the lock, the cast sheet check, and the edit checklist.
- The door bell rings exactly twice in the story — in (F-01) and out (F-14). Bookends. If a take adds a third ring mid-video, mute it in the edit.
- Nobody ever says the word for the eldest man's role toward the boy. In Part 1's narration there is no family word attached to any person at all — only the bare riddle phrase "two fathers and two sons". Check drafts for stray family labels; one stray label in a caption ends the riddle early.
- The bill tray stays on the table from F-06 onward. Small, at the edge, easy to miss — and its presence in F-07 and F-09 quietly keeps the ₹30 evidence on screen during the question and the recap.
- Prices never change. ₹10 a plate in the script, the overlay, the caption, the pinned comment and this analysis. One ₹20 anywhere and the comments will — correctly — do the maths against you.

SECTION 4

STYLE + CHARACTER + MOVEMENT LOCK — [CAFE-THREE-2D]

04

Paste this lock at the start of any new prompt for this story. It overrides any other style instruction.

STYLE: 2D flat cartoon illustration / animation only — hand-drawn storybook cartoon, flat solid colours, thick bold black outlines, simple shapes, simple round cartoon faces. Warm café palette: cream walls `#F3E7D3`, teal trim `#1F7A72`, maroon `#7A2E35`, mustard `#E0A81C`, hoodie red `#D8402E`, apron green `#2E5E43`, warm wood browns. Afternoon light, soft and warm. NEVER a photo, NEVER realistic, NEVER 3D, NEVER Pixar, NEVER CGI, NEVER a stick figure drawing. Vertical 9:16 throughout.

THE CHARACTERS (exact — never redesign, never swap a feature):

- HARISH, THE ELDEST MAN (about 70): HARISH, THE ELDEST MAN (age about 70): tall and thin, silver-white hair swept straight back, a neat silver moustache, round spectacles with thin black frames, a maroon cardigan over a cream shirt, grey trousers, brown shoes, a warm calm smile, and a plain black wristwatch on his LEFT wrist.
- ROHAN, THE MIDDLE MAN (about 42): ROHAN, THE MIDDLE MAN (age about 42): medium height and medium build, black hair with a little grey at the temples, a short neatly trimmed black beard, a mustard-yellow sweater, dark blue trousers, dark shoes, a friendly thoughtful expression. He is the answer's home address: his face, sweater and seat (the middle seat) must be the most consistent thing in the pack.
- AARAV, THE BOY (about 12): AARAV, THE BOY (age about 12): short and slim, tousled black hair, a bright red hoodie, blue jeans, white sneakers, a bright curious smile, and a small plain blue backpack with no logos and no text.
- NIKHIL, THE WAITER (about 25): NIKHIL, THE WAITER (age about 25): slim, short black hair, clean-shaven, a white shirt with the sleeves rolled to the elbow, a dark green apron, black trousers, black shoes, holding a round dark-brown serving tray. Staff, always standing, never a fourth customer.

MOVEMENT RULES (every clip): people move like people in a café — walk, sit, nod, eat, one hand on a shoulder, one hair-ruffle, one small shrug. Nothing bigger. The camera is hard cuts, locked counting frames, and very slow push-ins only. Characters never speak and never move their lips; all speech is the narrator. Food is eaten with fork and hand in the ordinary way; plates never slide between people.

THE THREE RULES THAT PROTECT THE RIDDLE

1. THREE BODIES RULE: exactly THREE customers exist in this story — in every frame, reflection, shadow and background. The waiter is the only other person, always clearly staff (apron on, standing, tray in hand). Any fourth body, silhouette, reflection or seated figure anywhere = regenerate. There is no fourth man, not even for one frame — Part 1's question is "where did he go?", and the honest answer the frames must protect is "he never existed".
2. TITLES-NOT-PEOPLE RULE: "father" and "son" are titles handed out by the EDITOR's chips, never by the drawings, and never pinned on anyone in Part 1. In Part 2 the chips arrive in the narration's exact order — FATHER 1 on Harish, SON 1 on Rohan, FATHER 2 on Rohan again, SON 2 on Aarav — and Rohan's double chip is the climax. Rohan is always ONE body in ONE seat; never duplicate, mirror or split him to show his two titles. One man, two chips.
3. PLATES-AND-BILL RULE: exactly THREE plates, one per person, each with the same meal; no sharing, no extra plate, no empty setting. The bill in every generated frame is BLANK; the "3 × ₹10 = ₹30" total exists only as an editor overlay. Count the plates in every take before accepting it — tray plus table together must never show a fourth.

SECTION 6

THE SCRIPTS (ORIGINAL NARRATION — THESE EXACT WORDS GO INSIDE THE PROMPTS IN SECTIONS 8 AND 9)

06

VOICE + SOUND RULE (the whole book): GENERATE THE AUDIO WITH EACH CLIP — the narration is inside every video prompt. One narrator voice for BOTH videos: a warm, confident adult male narrator, American accent, age about 30–35, calm suspenseful storytelling tone, medium pace — the exact same voice, tone and speed in all 14 clips. The narrator says each line EXACTLY, word for word, with nothing added and nothing removed, and there is no other speech; characters never speak and never move their lips. Under the narration: very soft warm café music plus the ambient sound noted per clip. Listen-back rule: after generating each clip, check the narration words are exactly right and the voice has not changed; if one word is wrong, regenerate THAT clip only — never re-record or patch a single word with a different voice. Pause rule: F-08 begins with 2 full seconds of complete silence before its line; the short beats inside lines 3, 7 and 11 (marked …) are held, not rushed.

Part 1 — the riddle video (answer withheld)

Line	Clip	Time	Narration (exact words)
1	F-01	0–10s	Two fathers and two sons walk into a small café together — hungry, laughing, and ready for lunch.
2	F-02	10–20s	Each man orders exactly one plate of food. Every plate costs ten rupees. No sharing. No extras.
3	F-03	20–30s	The waiter writes it all down, certain he has heard it right: two fathers… and two sons.
4	F-04	30–40s	Moments later, he returns carrying exactly three plates — one, two, three — and sets one before each man.
5	F-05	40–50s	Nobody complains. Nobody is missing a plate. Each person at the table is eating his own full meal.
6	F-06	50–60s	Then the bill arrives. Three plates at ten rupees each. Thirty rupees in total. The charge is exactly right.
7	F-07	60–70s	Wait. Count it again. Two fathers, plus two sons, should be four people. So where did the fourth man go?

Line	Clip	Time	Narration (exact words)
8	F-08	70–80s	So — how can two fathers and two sons be only three people? Lock your answer in the comments. The solution drops tomorrow, in Part Two.

Part 2 — the solution video

Line	Clip	Time	Narration (exact words)
9	F-09	0–10s	Yesterday's café riddle. Two fathers. Two sons. Three plates. A thirty-rupee bill — and nobody was short-changed. Here is the answer.
10	F-10	10–20s	Meet the eldest man. He is a father — because the man in the middle is his son. That is father number one.
11	F-11	20–30s	Now look at the middle man. He is that son… and he is also a father — because the boy beside him is his son.
12	F-12	30–40s	And the boy? He is a son — the second son. Count the titles again: two fathers, two sons. Now count the people: three.
13	F-13	40–50s	The trick was never in the café. Father and son are titles, not people — and one man can hold two titles at the same time.
14	F-14	50–60s	Three people. Four titles. Three plates. Thirty rupees. Everything adds up. Follow for tomorrow's riddle — and bring someone who still counts four.

How to use every prompt in this pack: paste the WHOLE block, exactly as written. Every block opens with the style order and closes with its own negative block and CHECK line — that repetition is deliberate; it is what stops the generator drifting into photos or 3D. Generate REF-00 first and check it; upload it as a reference together with every later prompt that names it.

Single character reference, full body, standing, facing the camera, on a plain warm-cream background, vertical 9:16: ROHAN, THE MIDDLE MAN (age about 42): medium height and medium build, black hair with a little grey at the temples, a short neatly trimmed black beard, a mustard-yellow sweater, dark blue trousers, dark shoes, a friendly thoughtful expression. He is the only figure in the image.
NEGATIVE: photorealistic, realistic, photograph, 3D render, CGI, Pixar style, skin texture detail, extra people, extra figures, silhouettes of extra people, reflections showing people, text, letters, numbers, prices, watermark, logos.
CHECK: mustard sweater, short beard, grey only at the temples, medium height. This face must stay pixel-consistent everywhere — he carries the whole answer. Any drift = regenerate.

2D FLAT CARTOON ILLUSTRATION ONLY — a hand-drawn storybook cartoon image, flat solid colours, thick bold black outlines around every shape, simple shapes, simple round cartoon faces. This is NOT a photo, NOT realistic, NOT 3D, NOT Pixar, NOT CGI, NOT a stick figure drawing. Single character reference, full body, standing, facing the camera, on a plain warm-cream background, vertical 9:16: AARAV, THE BOY (age about 12): short and slim, tousled black hair, a bright red hoodie, blue jeans, white sneakers, a bright curious smile, and a small plain blue backpack with no logos and no text. He is the only figure in the image.
NEGATIVE: photorealistic, realistic, photograph, 3D render, CGI, Pixar style, skin texture detail, extra people, extra figures, silhouettes of extra people, reflections showing people, text, letters, numbers, prices, watermark, logos.
CHECK: red hoodie, tousled hair, clearly a child of about 12 — never drawn as a small adult, never aged up. Backpack plain, no logo.

2D FLAT CARTOON ILLUSTRATION ONLY — a hand-drawn storybook cartoon image, flat solid colours, thick bold black outlines around every shape, simple shapes, simple round cartoon faces. This is NOT a photo, NOT realistic, NOT 3D, NOT Pixar, NOT CGI, NOT a stick figure drawing. Single character reference, full body, standing, facing the camera, on a plain warm-cream background, vertical 9:16: NIKHIL, THE WAITER (age about 25): slim, short black hair, clean-shaven, a white shirt with the sleeves rolled to the elbow, a dark green apron, black trousers, black shoes, holding a round dark-brown serving tray. The tray is EMPTY and level. He is the only figure in the image.
NEGATIVE: photorealistic, realistic, photograph, 3D render, CGI, Pixar style, skin texture detail, extra people, extra figures, silhouettes of extra people, reflections showing people, text, letters, numbers, prices, watermark, logos.
CHECK: green apron, rolled white sleeves, empty tray. The waiter is staff — he must never be seated at the customers' table in any later image.

NEGATIVE: photorealistic, realistic, photograph, 3D render, CGI, Pixar style, skin texture detail, extra people, extra figures, silhouettes of extra people, reflections showing people, text, letters, numbers, prices, watermark, logos.
CHECK: count out loud before accepting: plates 1-2-3, settings 1-2-3, chairs 1-2-3, water glasses 1-2-3. Any fourth of anything = regenerate the whole plate. This plate is the riddle's evidence — a wrong count here poisons every clip that copies it.

2D FLAT CARTOON ILLUSTRATION ONLY — a hand-drawn storybook cartoon image, flat solid colours, thick bold black outlines around every shape, simple shapes, simple round cartoon faces. This is NOT a photo, NOT realistic, NOT 3D, NOT Pixar, NOT CGI, NOT a stick figure drawing. A round dark-brown serving tray held level, seen at a slight angle, holding EXACTLY THREE plates in a neat triangle, each plate the same meal: one white round plate holding a small mound of white rice, a small bowl of orange curry and one plain round flatbread — the same simple meal on every plate. Plain warm-cream background, vertical 9:16. Only the waiter's forearms and green apron edge show at the bottom of the frame — no face, no other person.
NEGATIVE: photorealistic, realistic, photograph, 3D render, CGI, Pixar style, skin texture detail, extra people, extra figures, silhouettes of extra people, reflections showing people, text, letters, numbers, prices, watermark, logos.
CHECK: exactly three plates, identical meals, nothing else on the tray — no bill, no glasses, no fourth plate hiding at an edge.

PROP-BILL · THE BLANK BILL (prop reference — blank on purpose) → save as B02_PROP_Bill

NEGATIVE: photorealistic, realistic, photograph, 3D render, CGI, Pixar style, skin texture detail, extra people, extra figures, silhouettes of extra people, reflections showing people, text, letters, numbers, prices, watermark, logos.
CHECK: the slip is 100% blank. Any mark, squiggle or printed line on it = regenerate. A generated total would be garbled and would break the ₹30 fact.

This is NOT a photo, NOT realistic, NOT 3D, NOT Pixar, NOT CGI, NOT a stick figure drawing. Vertical image 9:16. SCENE: an EMPTY small street café front in warm afternoon light, no people. Cream walls, a plain teal awning carrying NO words, a glass door slightly reflective but showing NO figures, two small potted plants, a pavement and a quiet street edge, and one plain EMPTY notice board beside the door. The whole front is friendly and still, with calm empty space in the upper-middle of the frame.
NEGATIVE: photorealistic, realistic, photograph, 3D render, CGI, Pixar style, skin texture detail, extra people, extra figures, silhouettes of extra people, reflections showing people, text, letters, numbers, prices, watermark, logos.
CHECK: no people, no figures in the glass, no words anywhere, notice board empty. The glass must not reflect a crowd — reflections count as people in this pack.

2D FLAT CARTOON ILLUSTRATION ONLY — a hand-drawn storybook cartoon image, flat solid colours, thick bold black outlines around every shape, simple shapes, simple round cartoon faces. This is NOT a photo, NOT realistic, NOT 3D, NOT Pixar, NOT CGI, NOT a stick figure drawing. Vertical image 9:16. SCENE: an EMPTY warm café interior, no people. Cream walls with teal trim, plain framed shapes on the walls carrying NO pictures and NO words, soft window light from the left. In the centre: ONE round wooden table with EXACTLY THREE chairs tucked around it and nothing on it yet. In the background: a counter, and on the wall behind it a plain BLANK menu board carrying NO words and NO prices. Every other table in the room is small, bare and clearly unoccupied.
NEGATIVE: photorealistic, realistic, photograph, 3D render, CGI, Pixar style, skin texture detail, extra people, extra figures, silhouettes of extra people, reflections showing people, text, letters, numbers, prices, watermark, logos.
CHECK: exactly three chairs at the centre table; menu board blank; no people; no words or prices anywhere. This plate is copied by six clips — check it like a reference, not like a background.

Warm cream and teal, a plain steel pass shelf holding EXACTLY THREE covered serving domes in a row, a stack of plain white plates at one end (a neat stack, not countable settings), hanging utensils as simple shapes, NO order tickets, NO writing, NO prices anywhere.
NEGATIVE: photorealistic, realistic, photograph, 3D render, CGI, Pixar style, skin texture detail, extra people, extra figures, silhouettes of extra people, reflections showing people, text, letters, numbers, prices, watermark, logos.
CHECK: exactly three domes on the pass; no tickets or writing; no people. The plate stack is a stack — if it reads as extra place settings, regenerate.

SECTION 8

PART B — VIDEO PROMPTS, PART 1 (8 CLIPS × 10 SECONDS, NARRATION INSIDE EVERY PROMPT)

08

How to use: in Google Flow, for each clip upload the reference images named at the top of its prompt, paste the whole block, generate. The narration is inside the prompt — Flow creates the voice with the clip. Listen-check every clip against Section 6; regenerate only the failures. Editor overlays (Section 5, OV codes) are NEVER part of a prompt — the spaces named in each timeline are left empty on purpose.

VOICE LOCK (inside every prompt below): one warm, confident adult male narrator, American accent, age about 30–35, calm suspenseful storytelling tone, medium pace — the exact same voice in all 14 clips.

Animate as a 2D FLAT CARTOON ANIMATION ONLY — hand-drawn storybook cartoon style, flat solid colours, thick bold black outlines, simple shapes, simple round cartoon faces. The animation must stay 2D and flat like a cartoon, NOT realistic, NOT 3D, NOT Pixar, NOT CGI, no photographic detail. One continuous shot, vertical 9:16, lasting 10 seconds.
Use the uploaded reference images for the exact characters and the exact set — do not redesign anything. CHARACTERS — the three customers walking together toward the café door, left to right in this exact order: HARISH, THE ELDEST MAN (age about 70): tall and thin, silver-white hair swept straight back, a neat silver moustache, round spectacles with thin black frames, a maroon cardigan over a cream shirt, grey trousers, brown shoes, a warm calm smile, and a plain black wristwatch on his LEFT wrist. ROHAN, THE MIDDLE MAN (age about 42): medium height and medium build, black hair with a little grey at the temples, a short neatly trimmed black beard, a mustard-yellow sweater, dark blue trousers, dark shoes, a friendly thoughtful expression. AARAV, THE BOY (age about 12): short and slim, tousled black hair, a bright red hoodie, blue jeans, white sneakers, a bright curious smile, and a small plain blue backpack with no logos and no text. No other person is in the frame. SET: a small friendly street café in warm afternoon light — a cream-walled café front with a plain teal awning carrying NO words, a glass door, two small potted plants, and a plain empty notice board beside the door (all words and prices are added in editing, never generated).
ACTION TIMELINE: 0–4s: the three customers walk together along the pavement toward the café door, the boy half a step ahead, all three relaxed and smiling; the camera holds wide. 4–7s: the eldest man pulls the glass door open and holds it; the boy steps in first, then the middle man. 7–10s: the eldest man follows them in, the door swings slowly closed behind him, and the empty café front holds — leave the plain notice board and the lower third clean and uncluttered (editor text and captions are added later).
NARRATION AUDIO — GENERATE THE AUDIO WITH THIS CLIP: One narrator voice only: a warm, confident adult male narrator, American accent, age about 30 to 35, calm suspenseful storytelling tone, medium pace — the EXACT SAME voice, same tone and same speed as every other clip in this series. The narrator says ONLY these exact words, word for word, with nothing added and nothing removed: "Two fathers and two sons walk into a small café together — hungry, laughing, and ready for lunch." Under the narration: very soft warm café music plus a quiet street ambience, distant traffic and one soft door bell as the door opens. No character on screen speaks or moves its lips. Finish the narration before the clip ends; any remaining time is music and ambient sound only.
AVOID: a fourth person anywhere in the frame, any shadow or reflection shaped like a fourth person, words or prices on the awning or notice board, the boy carrying anything except his plain blue backpack, realistic faces, 3D look, text, letters, numbers, watermark, camera shake, fast motion.

AARAV, THE BOY (age about 12): short and slim, tousled black hair, a bright red hoodie, blue jeans, white sneakers, a bright curious smile, and a small plain blue backpack with no logos and no text. Facing them stands NIKHIL, THE WAITER (age about 25): slim, short black hair, clean-shaven, a white shirt with the sleeves rolled to the elbow, a dark green apron, black trousers, black shoes, holding a round dark-brown serving tray He holds a small BLANK notepad and a pencil; the notepad page is completely blank (the order is written by the editor later, never generated). SET: the warm café interior — cream walls, teal trim, plain framed shapes with no pictures or words, soft window light from the left, and a plain blank menu board on the wall behind the counter carrying NO words and NO prices.
ACTION TIMELINE: 0–4s: medium shot of the table; the eldest man raises one finger politely as he orders; the waiter nods and pretends to write on the blank notepad. 4–7s: the middle man nods and gestures once at the menu board — he is ordering the same plate; the waiter nods again. 7–10s: the boy points cheerfully at the same menu board; the waiter smiles, closes the notepad and turns toward the counter; exactly three seated customers are visible and nobody else sits down.
NARRATION AUDIO — GENERATE THE AUDIO WITH THIS CLIP: One narrator voice only: a warm, confident adult male narrator, American accent, age about 30 to 35, calm suspenseful storytelling tone, medium pace — the EXACT SAME voice, same tone and same speed as every other clip in this series. The narrator says ONLY these exact words, word for word, with nothing added and nothing removed: "Each man orders exactly one plate of food. Every plate costs ten rupees. No sharing. No extras." Under the narration: very soft warm café music plus low café murmur, soft cutlery sounds and a faint kitchen clatter far away. No character on screen speaks or moves its lips. Finish the narration before the clip ends; any remaining time is music and ambient sound only.
AVOID: a fourth chair at the table, a fourth place setting, any other customer sitting at this table, words, letters or prices on the menu board or notepad, sharing gestures, extra plates or glasses appearing early, realistic faces, 3D look, text, numbers, watermark, camera shake.

CHARACTER: NIKHIL, THE WAITER (age about 25): slim, short black hair, clean-shaven, a white shirt with the sleeves rolled to the elbow, a dark green apron, black trousers, black shoes, holding a round dark-brown serving tray He stands alone at the café counter, his BLANK notepad open in one hand, a pencil in the other, looking down at it with a small puzzled frown. SET: the café counter and kitchen pass — warm cream and teal, a plain steel pass shelf, three covered serving domes waiting out of focus behind him, NO words, NO tickets with writing, NO prices anywhere in the frame.
ACTION TIMELINE: 0–4s: close medium shot; the waiter reads his blank notepad, lips still, and mouths nothing; his eyebrows rise slowly. 4–7s: he counts quietly on his fingers under the counter edge — first two fingers, then two more fingers — and his frown deepens; his fingers are BELOW the counter line and partly out of frame, a thinking gesture only. 7–10s: he shakes his head once, smiles to himself as if the order must be right after all, tucks the pencil behind his ear and turns to the kitchen pass; the three covered domes hold in soft focus behind him.
NARRATION AUDIO — GENERATE THE AUDIO WITH THIS CLIP: One narrator voice only: a warm, confident adult male narrator, American accent, age about 30 to 35, calm suspenseful storytelling tone, medium pace — the EXACT SAME voice, same tone and same speed as every other clip in this series. Under the narration: very soft warm café music plus quiet kitchen sounds, a soft pan clink and distant café murmur. No character on screen speaks or moves its lips. Finish the narration before the clip ends; any remaining time is music and ambient sound only.
AVOID: the waiter speaking or moving his lips, readable writing on the notepad, order tickets with text, a fourth dome on the pass, numbers appearing anywhere, another person entering the frame, realistic faces, 3D look, text, letters, watermark, camera shake.
NOTE FOR THE EDIT: the finger-counting stays low and vague on purpose — never let a take turn it into a clear 'four people' gesture near the customers.

AARAV, THE BOY (age about 12): short and slim, tousled black hair, a bright red hoodie, blue jeans, white sneakers, a bright curious smile, and a small plain blue backpack with no logos and no text.
ACTION TIMELINE: 0–4s: the waiter walks in from the right carrying the tray level; the camera holds a medium-wide shot of the table; the three customers look up, smiling. 4–7s: one by one he sets a plate in front of the eldest man, then the middle man, then the boy — three plates, three people, each plate placed squarely in front of its own person. 7–10s: the empty tray drops to his side; all three customers look down at their own full plate; the shot holds with the three plates clearly countable on the table and generous clean space above them (the editor's counting dots are added later).
NARRATION AUDIO — GENERATE THE AUDIO WITH THIS CLIP: One narrator voice only: a warm, confident adult male narrator, American accent, age about 30 to 35, calm suspenseful storytelling tone, medium pace — the EXACT SAME voice, same tone and same speed as every other clip in this series. The narrator says ONLY these exact words, word for word, with nothing added and nothing removed: "Moments later, he returns carrying exactly three plates — one, two, three — and sets one before each man." Under the narration: very soft warm café music plus café murmur and three soft plate-on-table sounds, one for each plate as it lands. No character on screen speaks or moves its lips. Finish the narration before the clip ends; any remaining time is music and ambient sound only.
AVOID: a fourth plate anywhere — on the tray, the table or in the background — two plates in front of one person, an empty place with no plate, plates stacked or shared, a fourth chair, realistic food detail, 3D look, text, letters, numbers, watermark, camera shake.
PLATES RULE CHECK: pause the finished take and count the plates out loud — tray plus table together must never show more than three, and the final frame shows exactly three, one per person. More or fewer = regenerate.

AARAV, THE BOY (age about 12): short and slim, tousled black hair, a bright red hoodie, blue jeans, white sneakers, a bright curious smile, and a small plain blue backpack with no logos and no text. The waiter is NOT in this clip.
ACTION TIMELINE: 0–4s: medium shot; all three eat calmly — the eldest man lifts a forkful, the middle man breaks his flatbread, the boy eats happily; nobody looks around, nobody waits. 4–7s: the boy says nothing but grins and gives a small thumbs-up toward the kitchen; the middle man smiles back; every plate stays in front of its own eater. 7–10s: the camera eases back a little to a wider table shot; three people, three plates, three chairs — the table is complete and settled, and the shot holds calmly.

CHARACTERS: NIKHIL, THE WAITER (age about 25): slim, short black hair, clean-shaven, a white shirt with the sleeves rolled to the elbow, a dark green apron, black trousers, black shoes, holding a round dark-brown serving tray He places a small BLANK bill — a plain white slip with NO writing, NO numbers and NO lines of text — on a small dark tray at the edge of the table. Seated at the table are the three customers: HARISH, THE ELDEST MAN (age about 70): tall and thin, silver-white hair swept straight back, a neat silver moustache, round spectacles with thin black frames, a maroon cardigan over a cream shirt, grey trousers, brown shoes, a warm calm smile, and a plain black wristwatch on his LEFT wrist. ROHAN, THE MIDDLE MAN (age about 42): medium height and medium build, black hair with a little grey at the temples, a short neatly trimmed black beard, a mustard-yellow sweater, dark blue trousers, dark shoes, a friendly thoughtful expression. AARAV, THE BOY (age about 12): short and slim, tousled black hair, a bright red hoodie, blue jeans, white sneakers, a bright curious smile, and a small plain blue backpack with no logos and no text. Their three plates are now nearly empty, one in front of each man.
ACTION TIMELINE: 0–4s: the waiter sets the little tray with the blank bill down beside the eldest man and steps back politely. 4–7s: the eldest man picks up the bill slip and reads it; he nods slowly, completely satisfied, and shows it briefly toward the middle man, who nods too. The slip stays BLANK and unreadable to the camera the whole time — it is turned three-quarter away and slightly soft. 7–10s: the eldest man places coins/a plain wallet motion beside the tray (no notes or numbers visible), the boy smiles, and the shot holds on the settled table — three people, three finished plates, one paid bill.
NARRATION AUDIO — GENERATE THE AUDIO WITH THIS CLIP: One narrator voice only: a warm, confident adult male narrator, American accent, age about 30 to 35, calm suspenseful storytelling tone, medium pace — the EXACT SAME voice, same tone and same speed as every other clip in this series. The charge is exactly right." Under the narration: very soft warm café music plus café murmur and one soft coin sound as payment is set down. No character on screen speaks or moves its lips. Finish the narration before the clip ends; any remaining time is music and ambient sound only.
AVOID: any readable number, letter or total on the bill — the bill must stay blank in generation; the ₹30 total is drawn by the editor later — a second bill, a discount gesture, an argument about the bill, a fourth plate or person, realistic faces, 3D look, text, watermark, camera shake.
BILL RULE CHECK: if the generator puts ANY marks on the bill slip, reject the take even if they look like scribbles — a readable or half-readable total inside a generated frame is a failed frame.

AARAV, THE BOY (age about 12): short and slim, tousled black hair, a bright red hoodie, blue jeans, white sneakers, a bright curious smile, and a small plain blue backpack with no logos and no text. No waiter in this clip.
ACTION TIMELINE: 0–4s: the camera begins a VERY slow push-in on the table; the middle man leans back, pats his stomach once, content. 4–7s: the boy looks from the eldest man to the middle man and back, counting silently with his eyes, his head turning slowly — a thinking look, nobody speaks. 7–10s: the push-in stops on a clean wide-enough framing of all three; leave the upper third of the frame calm and uncluttered (the editor's question banner is added there) and keep the lower third calm for captions.
NARRATION AUDIO — GENERATE THE AUDIO WITH THIS CLIP: One narrator voice only: a warm, confident adult male narrator, American accent, age about 30 to 35, calm suspenseful storytelling tone, medium pace — the EXACT SAME voice, same tone and same speed as every other clip in this series. The narrator says ONLY these exact words, word for word, with nothing added and nothing removed: "Wait. Count it again. Two fathers, plus two sons, should be four people. So where did the fourth man go?" Under the narration: the café music thinning down to almost nothing, plus the faintest café murmur — the quiet before the question. No character on screen speaks or moves its lips. Finish the narration before the clip ends; any remaining time is music and ambient sound only.
AVOID: any character speaking or mouthing words, a fourth figure, shadow or reflection, new plates or people entering, banners or words generated in the frame, realistic faces, 3D look, text, letters, numbers, watermark, camera shake, fast push-in.

Animate as a 2D FLAT CARTOON ANIMATION ONLY — hand-drawn storybook cartoon style, flat solid colours, thick bold black outlines, simple shapes, simple round cartoon faces. The animation must stay 2D and flat like a cartoon, NOT realistic, NOT 3D, NOT Pixar, NOT CGI, no photographic detail. One continuous shot, vertical 9:16, lasting 10 seconds.
Use the uploaded reference images for the exact characters and the exact set — do not redesign anything. CHARACTERS: nobody is on screen for most of this clip. SET: the café front from the arrival clip — cream walls, plain teal awning with NO words, glass door, two potted plants, the plain blank notice board — in the same warm afternoon light, now quiet and empty, the meal over.
ACTION TIMELINE: 0–5s: the empty café front holds completely still; only a leaf on one potted plant stirs slightly; leave the upper-middle of the frame and the lower third calm and empty (the editor's question and comments banners are added there). 5–8s: through the glass door, deep inside and softly out of focus, three seated shapes can just be made out at one table — shapes only, no faces, no detail, and never a fourth shape. 8–10s: the shot returns to stillness on the quiet café front and ends there.
NARRATION AUDIO — GENERATE THE AUDIO WITH THIS CLIP: One narrator voice only: a warm, confident adult male narrator, American accent, age about 30 to 35, calm suspenseful storytelling tone, medium pace — the EXACT SAME voice, same tone and same speed as every other clip in this series. IMPORTANT: the first 2 seconds of this clip are COMPLETE SILENCE — no voice at all. Then The narrator says ONLY these exact words, word for word, with nothing added and nothing removed: "So — how can two fathers and two sons be only three people? Lock your answer in the comments. The solution drops tomorrow, in Part Two." Under the narration: very soft warm café music returning gently after the opening silence, plus a faint street ambience. No character on screen speaks or moves its lips. Finish the narration before the clip ends; any remaining time is music and ambient sound only.
AVOID: narration starting before 2 seconds, any banner, word or number generated in the frame, a clear view of the customers' faces inside, a fourth shape inside or outside, people entering or leaving, realistic detail, 3D look, text, letters, watermark, camera movement.
SILENCE FIRST: the first 2 seconds of this clip are COMPLETE SILENCE — no voice at all — then the narration begins.

SECTION 9

PART C — VIDEO PROMPTS, PART 2 (6 CLIPS × 10 SECONDS, NARRATION INSIDE EVERY PROMPT)

How to use: same as Part 1 — upload the references named at the top of each prompt, paste the whole block, generate, listen-check against Section 6, regenerate only failures. Part 2 may name the relationships — Part 1 never does. The OV chips in F-10 to F-12 are editor work; every prompt below leaves the space for them empty on purpose.

VOICE LOCK (inside every prompt below): one warm, confident adult male narrator, American accent, age about 30–35, calm suspenseful storytelling tone, medium pace — the exact same voice in all 14 clips.

Use the uploaded reference images for the exact characters and the exact set — do not redesign anything. CHARACTERS: the three customers seated at the round table exactly as Part 1 left them, three finished plates in front of them: HARISH, THE ELDEST MAN (age about 70): tall and thin, silver-white hair swept straight back, a neat silver moustache, round spectacles with thin black frames, a maroon cardigan over a cream shirt, grey trousers, brown shoes, a warm calm smile, and a plain black wristwatch on his LEFT wrist. ROHAN, THE MIDDLE MAN (age about 42): medium height and medium build, black hair with a little grey at the temples, a short neatly trimmed black beard, a mustard-yellow sweater, dark blue trousers, dark shoes, a friendly thoughtful expression. AARAV, THE BOY (age about 12): short and slim, tousled black hair, a bright red hoodie, blue jeans, white sneakers, a bright curious smile, and a small plain blue backpack with no logos and no text.
ACTION TIMELINE: 0–4s: the table shot from Part 1 returns; the camera pushes in VERY slowly; the three men sit relaxed after their meal. 4–7s: the boy grins at the camera's side of the table — an inviting, 'ready?' look — while the two men smile calmly. 7–10s: the push-in stops; the framing settles on all three men with clean space in the upper third (editor recap text is added later); nobody new enters, nothing about the table changes.

the temples, a short neatly trimmed black beard, a mustard-yellow sweater, dark blue trousers, dark shoes, a friendly thoughtful expression. The boy is present at the table's far edge, softly out of focus, eating quietly — present, but not the subject of this clip. SET: the same café interior, same seats, same clothes as every other clip.
ACTION TIMELINE: 0–4s: medium two-shot of the eldest man and the middle man; the eldest man smiles warmly and rests one hand briefly on the middle man's shoulder — a father's easy gesture. 4–7s: the middle man smiles back and nods; the two hold the warm look for a beat; leave clean space above each man's head (the editor's title chips are added there later — generate NO chips, arrows or words). 7–10s: the framing holds on the pair; the boy stays soft and unlabelled at the frame's edge; stillness to the end.

Seated beside him: AARAV, THE BOY (age about 12): short and slim, tousled black hair, a bright red hoodie, blue jeans, white sneakers, a bright curious smile, and a small plain blue backpack with no logos and no text. The eldest man is present at the table's far edge, softly out of focus, smiling quietly — present, but not the subject of this clip. SET: the same café interior, same seats, same clothes as every other clip.
ACTION TIMELINE: 0–4s: medium two-shot of the middle man and the boy; the boy points at something on the menu board and the middle man leans in, answering with a warm nod — a father explaining to his son, shown only by behaviour. 4–7s: the middle man ruffles the boy's hair once, gently; the boy laughs silently (mouth closed in a grin, no lip-synced speech); both settle, smiling. 7–10s: the camera eases a fraction wider so the middle man sits visually BETWEEN the boy in focus and the eldest man soft at the edge — one man in the middle of the frame, exactly as he is in the middle of this riddle; leave clean space above his head for the editor's double-title chip.
NARRATION AUDIO — GENERATE THE AUDIO WITH THIS CLIP: One narrator voice only: a warm, confident adult male narrator, American accent, age about 30 to 35, calm suspenseful storytelling tone, medium pace — the EXACT SAME voice, same tone and same speed as every other clip in this series. AARAV, THE BOY (age about 12): short and slim, tousled black hair, a bright red hoodie, blue jeans, white sneakers, a bright curious smile, and a small plain blue backpack with no logos and no text.
ACTION TIMELINE: 0–5s: a clean wide table shot holds almost still; each man in turn gives one small nod as if being counted — eldest first, then the middle man, then the boy — one nod each, in order, nothing more. 5–8s: the three settle together, smiling at the camera's side of the table; the upper third of the frame stays clean and calm (the editor's counting diagram is built there). 8–10s: complete stillness on the three men, three chairs, three finished plates — the counting frame holds to the end.
NARRATION AUDIO — GENERATE THE AUDIO WITH THIS CLIP: One narrator voice only: a warm, confident adult male narrator, American accent, age about 30 to 35, calm suspenseful storytelling tone, medium pace — the EXACT SAME voice, same tone and same speed as every other clip in this series. CHARACTER IN FOCUS: ROHAN, THE MIDDLE MAN (age about 42): medium height and medium build, black hair with a little grey at the temples, a short neatly trimmed black beard, a mustard-yellow sweater, dark blue trousers, dark shoes, a friendly thoughtful expression. He sits at the table in his usual seat, seen in a medium close-up, with a band of clean, calm, empty space on BOTH sides of him at head height (the editor places one title chip on each side later — generate NO chips). Behind him, softly out of focus, the eldest man and the boy sit at the same table: HARISH, THE ELDEST MAN (age about 70): tall and thin, silver-white hair swept straight back, a neat silver moustache, round spectacles with thin black frames, a maroon cardigan over a cream shirt, grey trousers, brown shoes, a warm calm smile, and a plain black wristwatch on his LEFT wrist. AARAV, THE BOY (age about 12): short and slim, tousled black hair, a bright red hoodie, blue jeans, white sneakers, a bright curious smile, and a small plain blue backpack with no logos and no text.
ACTION TIMELINE: 0–4s: the close-up holds on the middle man; he looks from one side of the frame to the other, slowly, as if weighing two ideas. 4–7s: he smiles, raises BOTH hands a little in a small 'both are me' shrug — palms up, gentle, unhurried — and holds it for a beat. 7–10s: the shrug settles; he sits calm and pleased in the centre of the frame, the two clean side spaces still empty, the two other men still soft behind him.
NARRATION AUDIO — GENERATE THE AUDIO WITH THIS CLIP: One narrator voice only: a warm, confident adult male narrator, American accent, age about 30 to 35, calm suspenseful storytelling tone, medium pace — the EXACT SAME voice, same tone and same speed as every other clip in this series. Father and son are titles, not people — and one man can hold two titles at the same time." Under the narration: very soft warm café music plus the faintest café murmur. No character on screen speaks or moves its lips. Finish the narration before the clip ends; any remaining time is music and ambient sound only.

PART D — AGENT MASTER PROMPT (PASTE ONCE, THE AGENT BUILDS ALL 14 CLIPS)

Before you paste:

1. Use Flow on a computer (Agent mode is in the web version). Click Agent in the prompt box to turn Agent ON.
2. Set defaults: 9:16, and keep "Confirm before generating: Always" ON — you approve each step before it spends.
3. For true 10-second clips pick the Omni Flash model if offered (Veo clips land near 8 seconds — if the Agent uses Veo, tell it: "Extend any clip shorter than 10 seconds").
4. First generate the eleven reference images from Section 7 yourself — in this order: REF-00 (check the four figures and the watch wrist before anything else), REF-TABLE (count out loud: 3 plates, 3 settings, 3 chairs), REF-ELDER, REF-MIDDLE, REF-BOY, REF-WAITER, PROP-PLATES, PROP-BILL (the bill must be perfectly blank), PL-1, PL-2 (exactly three chairs at the centre table), PL-3 — and add them to the project. Then paste the whole box below in ONE message. Check the plate count and the three rules in the Agent's plan, then reply: "Generate all shots."

Create a complete two-part vertical animated riddle series called "TWO FATHERS, TWO SONS" in this project. PART 1 is the riddle: 8 clips, every clip exactly 10 seconds, vertical 9:16, and the answer is NEVER revealed in Part 1 — no family relationship is ever named or labelled in Part 1. PART 2 is the solution: 6 clips, every clip exactly 10 seconds, vertical 9:16, revealing the answer — the three customers are an eldest man, his son, and that man's son; the middle man is both a father and a son, so two fathers plus two sons are three people, who correctly receive three plates and a ₹30 bill at ₹10 a plate.

INGREDIENTS (already in this project — use them for every clip, never redesign):
- B02_REF00_Cast / B02_REF_Elder: HARISH, THE ELDEST MAN (about 70) — tall and thin, silver-white hair swept back, silver moustache, round spectacles, maroon cardigan over a cream shirt, grey trousers, brown shoes, black wristwatch on his LEFT wrist.
- B02_REF_Middle: ROHAN, THE MIDDLE MAN (about 42) — medium height and build, black hair with grey at the temples, short trimmed black beard, mustard-yellow sweater, dark blue trousers. He always sits in the MIDDLE seat. His consistency is the pack's first priority.
- B02_REF_Boy: AARAV, THE BOY (about 12) — short and slim, tousled black hair, bright red hoodie, blue jeans, white sneakers, plain blue backpack with no logos.
- B02_REF_Waiter: NIKHIL, THE WAITER (about 25) — slim, short black hair, clean-shaven, white rolled-sleeve shirt, dark green apron, black trousers, round dark-brown tray. Staff: always standing, never seated at the table, never given a plate.
- B02_REF_Table / B02_PROP_Plates: exactly THREE identical plates — white rice mound, small orange curry bowl, one plain flatbread — one per person.
- B02_PROP_Bill: the bill slip, COMPLETELY BLANK in every generated frame. The editor writes "3 × ₹10 = ₹30" on it later.
- B02_PL1_Exterior / B02_PL2_Interior / B02_PL3_Counter: the three sets, exactly as drawn. The centre table in PL-2 has exactly THREE chairs. The menu board and notice board are always blank.

THE THREE RULES (check after EVERY generation):
1. THREE BODIES RULE: exactly three customers in every frame — no fourth person, silhouette, reflection or shadow-person anywhere, ever. The waiter is the only other human and is always unmistakably staff.
2. TITLES-NOT-PEOPLE RULE: in Part 1, no man is ever labelled father or son, by chip, caption-in-frame, gesture staging or family grouping. In Part 2 the titles land in this exact order: FATHER 1 on Harish, SON 1 on Rohan, FATHER 2 on Rohan again, SON 2 on Aarav. Rohan is always ONE body in ONE seat — never duplicate, mirror or split him.
3. PLATES-AND-BILL RULE: exactly three plates, one per person, same meal, no sharing; tray plus table never show a fourth plate. The bill stays blank in generation; any generated mark on it = regenerate.

MOVEMENT RULES (every clip): ordinary café movement only — walking, sitting, nodding, eating, a hand on a shoulder, one hair-ruffle, one small shrug. Camera: hard cuts, locked frames for counting shots, very slow push-ins only. No character speaks or moves their lips. The door bell rings in Clips 1 and 14 only.

VOICE + SOUND RULE (every clip): GENERATE THE AUDIO WITH EACH CLIP. One narrator voice for BOTH videos: a warm, confident adult male narrator, American accent, age about 30 to 35, calm suspenseful storytelling tone, medium pace — the EXACT SAME voice, tone and speed in all 14 clips. In EVERY clip the narrator says the clip's narration line EXACTLY, word for word, with nothing added and nothing removed, and there is NO other speech. Under the narration: very soft warm café music plus the ambient sound noted per clip. Listen-back rule: after generating each clip, check the narration words are exactly right; if one word is wrong or the voice changes, regenerate that clip. Clip 8 begins with 2 full seconds of complete silence before its line.

THE 14 CLIPS (generate in this order, name them B02_F01 … B02_F14):

PART 1 — THE RIDDLE (answer withheld in every clip):

CLIP 1 — "The Arrival" (ingredients: B02_PL1_Exterior + B02_REF00_Cast). 0–4s: the three customers walk together along the pavement toward the café door, the boy half a step ahead, all three relaxed and smiling; the camera holds wide. 4–7s: the eldest man pulls the glass door open and holds it; the boy steps in first, then the middle man. 7–10s: the eldest man follows them in, the door swings slowly closed behind him, and the empty café front holds — leave the plain notice board and the lower third clean and uncluttered (editor text and captions are added later).
NARRATION (exact words): "Two fathers and two sons walk into a small café together — hungry, laughing, and ready for lunch."
Ambient: very soft warm café music plus a quiet street ambience, distant traffic and one soft door bell as the door opens.

CLIP 2 — "One Plate Each" (ingredients: B02_PL2_Interior + B02_REF00_Cast + B02_REF_Waiter). 0–4s: medium shot of the table; the eldest man raises one finger politely as he orders; the waiter nods and pretends to write on the blank notepad. 4–7s: the middle man nods and gestures once at the menu board — he is ordering the same plate; the waiter nods again. 7–10s: the boy points cheerfully at the same menu board; the waiter smiles, closes the notepad and turns toward the counter; exactly three seated customers are visible and nobody else sits down.
NARRATION (exact words): "Each man orders exactly one plate of food. Every plate costs ten rupees. No sharing. No extras."
Ambient: very soft warm café music plus low café murmur, soft cutlery sounds and a faint kitchen clatter far away.

CLIP 3 — "The Waiter Repeats It" (ingredients: B02_PL3_Counter + B02_REF_Waiter). 0–4s: close medium shot; the waiter reads his blank notepad, lips still, and mouths nothing; his eyebrows rise slowly. 4–7s: he counts quietly on his fingers under the counter edge — first two fingers, then two more fingers — and his frown deepens; his fingers are BELOW the counter line and partly out of frame, a thinking gesture only. 7–10s: he shakes his head once, smiles to himself as if the order must be right after all, tucks the pencil behind his ear and turns to the kitchen pass; the three covered domes hold in soft focus behind him.
NARRATION (exact words): "The waiter writes it all down, certain he has heard it right: two fathers… and two sons."
Ambient: very soft warm café music plus quiet kitchen sounds, a soft pan clink and distant café murmur.

CLIP 4 — "Exactly Three Plates" (ingredients: B02_PL2_Interior + B02_PROP_Plates + B02_REF00_Cast). 0–4s: the waiter walks in from the right carrying the tray level; the camera holds a medium-wide shot of the table; the three customers look up, smiling. 4–7s: one by one he sets a plate in front of the eldest man, then the middle man, then the boy — three plates, three people, each plate placed squarely in front of its own person. 7–10s: the empty tray drops to his side; all three customers look down at their own full plate; the shot holds with the three plates clearly countable on the table and generous clean space above them (the editor's counting dots are added later).
NARRATION (exact words): "Moments later, he returns carrying exactly three plates — one, two, three — and sets one before each man."
Ambient: very soft warm café music plus café murmur and three soft plate-on-table sounds, one for each plate as it lands.

CLIP 5 — "Nobody Is Missing One" (ingredients: B02_PL2_Interior + B02_REF00_Cast). 0–4s: medium shot; all three eat calmly — the eldest man lifts a forkful, the middle man breaks his flatbread, the boy eats happily; nobody looks around, nobody waits. 4–7s: the boy says nothing but grins and gives a small thumbs-up toward the kitchen; the middle man smiles back; every plate stays in front of its own eater. 7–10s: the camera eases back a little to a wider table shot; three people, three plates, three chairs — the table is complete and settled, and the shot holds calmly.
NARRATION (exact words): "Nobody complains. Nobody is missing a plate. Each person at the table is eating his own full meal."
Ambient: very soft warm café music plus gentle café murmur, soft cutlery and plate sounds.

CLIP 6 — "The Bill — Thirty Rupees" (ingredients: B02_PL2_Interior + B02_PROP_Bill + B02_REF_Waiter + B02_REF00_Cast). 0–4s: the waiter sets the little tray with the blank bill down beside the eldest man and steps back politely. 4–7s: the eldest man picks up the bill slip and reads it; he nods slowly, completely satisfied, and shows it briefly toward the middle man, who nods too. The slip stays BLANK and unreadable to the camera the whole time — it is turned three-quarter away and slightly soft. 7–10s: the eldest man places coins/a plain wallet motion beside the tray (no notes or numbers visible), the boy smiles, and the shot holds on the settled table — three people, three finished plates, one paid bill.
NARRATION (exact words): "Then the bill arrives. Three plates at ten rupees each. Thirty rupees in total. The charge is exactly right."
Ambient: very soft warm café music plus café murmur and one soft coin sound as payment is set down.

CLIP 7 — "Count It Again" (ingredients: B02_PL2_Interior + B02_REF00_Cast). 0–4s: the camera begins a VERY slow push-in on the table; the middle man leans back, pats his stomach once, content. 4–7s: the boy looks from the eldest man to the middle man and back, counting silently with his eyes, his head turning slowly — a thinking look, nobody speaks. 7–10s: the push-in stops on a clean wide-enough framing of all three; leave the upper third of the frame calm and uncluttered (the editor's question banner is added there) and keep the lower third calm for captions.
NARRATION (exact words): "Wait. Count it again. Two fathers, plus two sons, should be four people. So where did the fourth man go?"

Ambient: the café music thinning down to almost nothing, plus the faintest café murmur — the quiet before the question.

CLIP 8 — "The Question + The Pause" (ingredients: B02_PL1_Exterior + B02_REF00_Cast). 0–5s: the empty café front holds completely still; only a leaf on one potted plant stirs slightly; leave the upper-middle of the frame and the lower third calm and empty (the editor's question and comments banners are added there). 5–8s: through the glass door, deep inside and softly out of focus, three seated shapes can just be made out at one table — shapes only, no faces, no detail, and never a fourth shape. 8–10s: the shot returns to stillness on the quiet café front and ends there.
NARRATION (exact words): "So — how can two fathers and two sons be only three people? Lock your answer in the comments. The solution drops tomorrow, in Part Two."
Ambient: very soft warm café music returning gently after the opening silence, plus a faint street ambience.

PART 2 — THE SOLUTION:

CLIP 9 — "Recap — The Café Riddle" (ingredients: B02_PL2_Interior + B02_REF00_Cast). 0–4s: the table shot from Part 1 returns; the camera pushes in VERY slowly; the three men sit relaxed after their meal. 4–7s: the boy grins at the camera's side of the table — an inviting, 'ready?' look — while the two men smile calmly. 7–10s: the push-in stops; the framing settles on all three men with clean space in the upper third (editor recap text is added later); nobody new enters, nothing about the table changes.
NARRATION (exact words): "Yesterday's café riddle. Two fathers. Two sons. Three plates. A thirty-rupee bill — and nobody was short-changed. Here is the answer."
Ambient: very soft warm café music plus gentle café murmur, returning like the start of a familiar story.

CLIP 10 — "Father Number One" (ingredients: B02_PL2_Interior + B02_REF_Elder + B02_REF_Middle). 0–4s: medium two-shot of the eldest man and the middle man; the eldest man smiles warmly and rests one hand briefly on the middle man's shoulder — a father's easy gesture. 4–7s: the middle man smiles back and nods; the two hold the warm look for a beat; leave clean space above each man's head (the editor's title chips are added there later — generate NO chips, arrows or words). 7–10s: the framing holds on the pair; the boy stays soft and unlabelled at the frame's edge; stillness to the end.
NARRATION (exact words): "Meet the eldest man. He is a father — because the man in the middle is his son. That is father number one."
Ambient: very soft warm café music plus gentle café murmur.

CLIP 11 — "One Man, Two Titles" (ingredients: B02_PL2_Interior + B02_REF_Middle + B02_REF_Boy). 0–4s: medium two-shot of the middle man and the boy; the boy points at something on the menu board and the middle man leans in, answering with a warm nod — a father explaining to his son, shown only by behaviour. 4–7s: the middle man ruffles the boy's hair once, gently; the boy laughs silently (mouth closed in a grin, no lip-synced speech); both settle, smiling. 7–10s: the camera eases a fraction wider so the middle man sits visually BETWEEN the boy in focus and the eldest man soft at the edge — one man in the middle of the frame, exactly as he is in the middle of this riddle; leave clean space above his head for the editor's double-title chip.
NARRATION (exact words): "Now look at the middle man. He is that son… and he is also a father — because the boy beside him is his son."
Ambient: very soft warm café music plus gentle café murmur and one soft, warm musical lift as the hair-ruffle lands.

CLIP 12 — "Count The Titles, Count The People" (ingredients: B02_PL2_Interior + B02_REF00_Cast). 0–5s: a clean wide table shot holds almost still; each man in turn gives one small nod as if being counted — eldest first, then the middle man, then the boy — one nod each, in order, nothing more. 5–8s: the three settle together, smiling at the camera's side of the table; the upper third of the frame stays clean and calm (the editor's counting diagram is built there). 8–10s: complete stillness on the three men, three chairs, three finished plates — the counting frame holds to the end.
NARRATION (exact words): "And the boy? He is a son — the second son. Count the titles again: two fathers, two sons. Now count the people: three."
Ambient: very soft warm café music plus gentle café murmur, with one soft musical tick under each nod.

CLIP 13 — "Titles, Not People" (ingredients: B02_PL2_Interior + B02_REF_Middle + B02_REF00_Cast). 0–4s: the close-up holds on the middle man; he looks from one side of the frame to the other, slowly, as if weighing two ideas. 4–7s: he smiles, raises BOTH hands a little in a small 'both are me' shrug — palms up, gentle, unhurried — and holds it for a beat. 7–10s: the shrug settles; he sits calm and pleased in the centre of the frame, the two clean side spaces still empty, the two other men still soft behind him.

NARRATION (exact words): "The trick was never in the café. Father and son are titles, not people — and one man can hold two titles at the same time."
Ambient: very soft warm café music plus the faintest café murmur.

CLIP 14 — "Three People, Four Titles — Outro" (ingredients: B02_PL1_Exterior + B02_REF00_Cast).
0–4s: the glass door opens with its soft bell; the boy steps out first, then the middle man, then the eldest man; the three fall into step together on the pavement. 4–7s: walking slowly away from the café, the boy in the middle for a few steps, then drifting ahead as boys do; all three relaxed and laughing silently, mouths closed in smiles. 7–10s: the three walk out of the bottom of the frame together; the quiet café front holds empty for the last beat, with clean space in the upper third for the editor's end chip.
NARRATION (exact words): "Three people. Four titles. Three plates. Thirty rupees. Everything adds up. Follow for tomorrow's riddle — and bring someone who still counts four."
Ambient: warm café music resolving bright and friendly, plus the soft door bell at the start and a quiet street ambience.

SECTION 11

THUMBNAIL (PART 1 — THE RIDDLE'S QUESTION ONLY, NEVER THE ANSWER)

11

The idea: the whole riddle in one frame — a puzzled waiter holding a tray with exactly three plates, frozen between the kitchen and a table the viewer cannot see. Nobody in the frame is a customer, so nobody in the frame can give the answer away. The hook is the waiter's face plus the count: three plates… for four titles?

Generate text-free, add all text in the editor:

2D FLAT CARTOON ILLUSTRATION ONLY — a hand-drawn storybook cartoon image, flat solid colours, thick bold black outlines, simple shapes, simple round cartoon faces. This is NOT a photo, NOT realistic, NOT 3D, NOT Pixar, NOT CGI. Vertical image 9:16, warm café interior, cream walls and teal trim: ONE young waiter in a white rolled-sleeve shirt and dark green apron stands large in the centre of the frame, holding a round dark-brown tray level with EXACTLY THREE white plates on it — each plate with a small mound of white rice, a small bowl of orange curry and one plain flatbread. The waiter stares down at the three plates with a deeply puzzled expression — eyebrows high, mouth a small flat line — one free hand raised with four fingers showing in a counting gesture, the other steadying the tray. Behind him, softly out of focus, an empty café table edge and a blank menu board with NO words. The TOP THIRD of the frame is calm, plain café wall, left empty for title text. NO customers are visible anywhere in the frame.
NEGATIVE: photorealistic, realistic, photograph, 3D render, CGI, Pixar style, a fourth plate, two plates or four plates on the tray, any customer in the frame, any family grouping of three men, any older man with a younger man and a boy, text, letters, numbers, prices, watermark.

Editor text (added after generation, never generated): top third — "2 FATHERS + 2 SONS" in very large bold white block letters with a black outline, and under it, smaller, in lime: "ONLY 3 PLATES?" That is all. No other words.

Never on the thumbnail: the three customers together (three men of three ages IS the answer drawn), any family grouping or chain, arrows between people, the words that name the eldest man's relationship to the boy, "three generations", "he is both", a family tree of any kind, or the bill total. Each one answers the riddle before the video starts. The thumbnail asks; only Part 2 answers.

Part 2 thumbnail (optional, posted with the solution): reuse the Part 1 thumbnail art with the editor text swapped to "THE ANSWER" in lime over "2 FATHERS + 2 SONS". The art itself still shows only the waiter and the three plates — even the solution's thumbnail does not draw the family.

→ Save the generated art as B02_THUMB.

Three title options (Part 1 — pick one; all ask, none answer)

1. Two Fathers, Two Sons — So Why Only 3 Plates?
2. The Café Riddle Where 2 + 2 = 3 (Logic Puzzle)
3. The Waiter Counted 4. The Bill Said 3. Who Is Right?

Part 2 title: The Answer: Two Fathers, Two Sons — The Man Who Counts Twice

Caption (Part 1)

Two fathers and two sons walk into a café. Each orders one plate at ₹10. The waiter brings 3 plates — and the bill is ₹30, exactly right. So where is the fourth man? Comment your answer BEFORE the reveal. Part 2 drops tomorrow. New riddle every day.

Pinned comment (Part 1 — the two debate camps)

Comment BEFORE Part 2: is the fourth man REAL or NOT? Team FOUR: "Two fathers plus two sons is four people. The waiter must have missed a plate — or one of them shared." Team THREE: "There never was a fourth man. Three people can hold four titles — count the titles, not the bodies." The argument starts now. Part 2 tomorrow decides it.

Posting notes

- Post Part 1 first; pin the FOUR-or-THREE comment immediately, and reply to early comments with questions only ("Then why does the bill say ₹30?", "And why did nobody complain?") — never with the chain, the middle man's double title, or any family word for the eldest man.
- Post Part 2 the next day as the follow-up, and pin a linking comment under Part 1 pointing to it. Part 2's own pinned comment: "Now run it backwards: the boy will hold the same two titles one day. When?"
- Do not spoil the answer in Part 1's comment replies, community posts, or the Part 2 thumbnail (Section 11).

SECTION 13

EDIT, CHECK, EXPORT (THE CHECKLIST)

13

1. Join Part 1 in order F01 → F08 and Part 2 in order F09 → F14. Trim each clip to its real narration length — never stretch a clip to fill silence. Keep F08's opening 2 seconds of silence intact.

2. Add the editor overlays (Section 5) — all drawn in the editor, never generated: F01 — OV-TITLE as the narration names the titles. F02 — OV-PRICE chip on "ten rupees". F04 — OV-COUNT dots, one per plate, timed to "one, two, three" and to the three plate sounds. F06 — OV-BILL: write "3 × ₹10 = ₹30" onto the bill only in the close view, in a clean hand-style font, and double-check the figures character by character before export. F07 — OV-QUESTION banner as the recount ends. F08 — OV-QUESTION across the upper-middle + the comments banner low on frame, appearing only after the narration's question lands. F10 — OV-FATHER1 over Harish on "father", then OV-SON1 over Rohan on "his son". F11 — "FATHER 2" over Rohan, "SON 2" over Aarav, then OV-DOUBLE's joined chip over Rohan as the line ends. F12 — OV-FAMILY diagram built piece by piece in the upper third: "FATHERS = 2", "SONS = 2", then, on "count the people", "PEOPLE = 3". F14 — OV-END chip "3 PEOPLE. 4 TITLES." on the final frame only.

3. Captions: burn in your series captions, low on the frame, never covering a face, a plate, the bill, or any overlay chip. Check every caption that carries a number or a family word by eye — captions are part of the count.

4. BODY COUNT CHECK (before export, clip by clip): pause each clip at its busiest frame and count the customers: exactly 3 in F-01, F-02, F-04, F-05, F-06, F-07, F-09, F-12 and F-14; exactly 2 in focus plus 1 soft in F-10, F-11 and F-13; waiter alone in F-03; nobody in F-08 except the soft shapes deep inside. Count reflections and background shapes too. Any fourth customer = regenerate that clip before export.

5. PLATES CHECK: F-02 shows no plates yet. F-04 never shows more than 3 plates across tray + table and ends on exactly 3, one per person. F-05, F-06, F-07, F-09 and F-12 hold exactly 3 plates/settings. REF-TABLE frames used anywhere as stills must be the checked plate (3/3/3). A "4" hiding in any frame is a failed export.

6. BILL CHECK: in every generated frame the bill is blank. The only ₹30 in either video is your OV-BILL overlay in F-06 — verify it reads "3 × ₹10 = ₹30" and nothing else, and that no caption, title or pinned-copy draft anywhere says ₹40 or ₹20.

7. TITLES CHECK (Part 2 only): chips land in the narration's order and on the right heads — FATHER 1 → Harish (F-10), SON 1 → Rohan (F-10), FATHER 2 → Rohan (F-11), SON 2 → Aarav (F-11). Rohan's two chips must both point at the same single body in the middle seat. A chip over the wrong man teaches a wrong answer — fix the overlay, never ship the mismatch.

8. IDENTITY CHECK: Harish's watch is on his LEFT wrist in every appearance; Rohan's sweater is mustard and his beard is short in every appearance; Aarav reads as a boy of about 12 in every appearance; Nikhil is never seated and never holds a plate of his own. Seats never change: Harish — Rohan — Aarav, in that order, from F-02 to F-14.

9. ANSWER-HOLD CHECK (Part 1 only): watch Part 1 end to end as a stranger. Nothing — frame, overlay, caption, thumbnail, caption text — may name a family relationship between any two men, group the three as a family, or hint that one man holds two titles. The three ages may be SEEN; they may not be EXPLAINED.

10. Voice check: every line present, word-exact against Section 6, one voice throughout both videos, no dead air longer than the scripted pauses (F-08's 2 seconds; the held beats in lines 3, 7 and 11). Levels: narration clearly above the music; export around −14 LUFS.

11. Loop + ends check: Part 1's final café-front frame (F-08) must match the story's opening frame (F-01) in light and framing, so the riddle feels like one visit. Part 2 opens (F-09) on the same table framing Part 1 used at F-07 — check the seats and the bill tray match.

12. Post: Part 1 with Section 12's copy; pin the debate comment. Part 2 the next day; pin the link under Part 1. Never post both parts on the same day — the overnight argument is the distribution engine.
